STRESEMANN TAKES RELIEF STEPS

Proclaims Measures To Help Financial And Food Situation

Steps Taken by Chancellor to Put Germany On a More Normal Basis, Meet With Approval.

(By The Associated Press.)

BERLIN, Nov. 8. — Chancellor Stresemann's hastily proclaimed measures intended to bring relief to the nations financial and food situation, meet with varying degrees of approval among the financial critics They view the governments decrees as primarily possessing psychological importance, in that they assured the public that the paper mark is not altogether worthless and that it will be be shortly traded in against the new coinage in an equitable proportion.

The government's failure to fix definitely the value of the paper mark in relation to the present limited issue of gold loan notes is the chief source of popular disappointment, as the official communiques the past three days were considered to have foreshadowed definite action at once in this direction

The government now makes its final appraisal of the paper mark contingent upon its ability to halt the money presses and obtain sufficient new revenues through the commandeering of foreign currencies and the levying of new taxes, the foreign monies to be replaced with the new German gold currencies

In releasing 200,000 tons of sugar for export, the government hopes to coax 80,000,000 gold marks into its exchequers, although the treaty of Versailles imposes an export embargo on saccharine products. This feature of the chancellors emergency program also is provoking distrust on the ground that the elimination of this amount of sugar from the local supply will in all probability result in the driving up of the retail prices in the home market.

The government hopes to have its issue of "rentenmarks' as its new currency is christened, ready for circulation November 15. No announcement has been made regarding the size of the issue or what precautions will be provided to protect it from being pounced upon by the speculators, a though the official communique hopefully asserts that with the appearance of the new currency "inflation will have come to an end"

It is then proposed to arrive at an estimate of the total volume of paper marks in circulation throughout the world in order to fix a rate at which the paper mark will be redeemed for the new gold currency, the latter being conceived as a blotter for absorbing the unnamed trillion trillions, of numbered and unnumbered paper notes of varying denominations.

The official communiques suggested, however, that successful working out of the governments present scheme is in large measure dependable upon its ability to salvage the situation in the Ruhr and the Rhineland where the number of unemployed entitled to doles has already reached two million.

STORM ADVANCES

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.— The coast storm has advanced northeastward and this morning its center was near the mouth of the St. Lawrence river, the weather bureau reported.

TOWN TOPICS

The charter revision commission will hold its regular weekly meeting tonight in the city auditor's office at 7:45 o'clock. At this meeting it is expected that Pryor G. Ragland, commissioner of the revenue, and Councilman F. W Townes will appear. Mr. Ragland is to amplify suggestions he has made with reference to changing the phraseology of charter provisions bearing on taxes and Mr. Townes is to discuss elimination of the fee system in Danville It is understood that he has been making a study of fee returns by city officers recently and he is on record in favor of abolishing the fee system and putting all city officers on a "straight salary" basis. Frank Talbott also was invited to appear tonight but he said this morning that he would hardly feel equal to an appearance tonight.

Miss Ethel Perrin, representative of the American Child Health Association, who came here a few days ago to assist in the teaching of public health and health truths in the city schools, has made a tour of all the city schools and has decided to conduct her two weeks' work here at Bellevue school The city health officer and his assistants have begun physical examinations in the city schools among children in the second and fourth grades

Woodrow Royal Hall, 14-months-old son of Mr and Mrs T J. Hall, Bishop avenue, Schoolfield, is slowly recovering from injuries sustained last Sunday morning which for a time imperilled the infant's life. At the breakfast table the infant succeeded in overturning a cup of boiling coffee. The scalding fluid struck the infant squarely in the face and he was terribly injured from the eyes down to the chest. For a day it was feared that blindness would result. Happily this danger has been removed and doctors says there will be no permanent disfigurement. The child remains seriously ill, however, with the development of pneumonia to be feared.

Rev. David Hepburn, of Richmond, superintnedent of the Anti-Saloon league and W. T. Shelton, prohibition inspector of Danville, will make addresses at Rocky Mount, Va., Saturday morning at 11 o'clock and at Boon's Mill at 7:30 o'clock at night.

The commissioners of election met at 8 30 o'oclock this morning at the courthouse and canvassed the vote in Tuesday's election and certified the returns to the state authorities The official vote shows 748 votes cast for the bond issue and 228 against the issue., and the following figures R. ahead of the ticket in Danville. Forward 813: Byars 108: N. E. Clement. 928; W. A Garrett. 848. R. T. Carter 883. H D. Shepherd. 873: C. R. Warren 842; R M. Foster 1.000.

Mayor Harry Wooding, who is chairman of the reception committee, which will entertain Senator Copeland Saturday, this morning called a meeting of the committee to be held Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the room at the Chamber of Commerce Every member is urged to attend.

Russia Warned to Be In Readiness For Another War

Celebrants of Revolt Told Fate of Europe Will Be Decided by a Great Conflict.

(By The Associated Press.)

MOSCOW, Nov. 8.—At ceremonies held here yesterday the anniversary of the revolution the official speakers warned Russia to be in readiness for a possible European struggle. Leon Trotzky, minister of war, who was suffering from a cold and unable to review the army, in a letter to The Pravda said:

"The fate of Europe may be decided during the seventh year of the Russian revolution. The year will not be one of rest for us, but a year of great and sanguine struggles, unprecedented heroism and many sacrifies on the road to victory."

Leo Kameneff, acting premier, reviewing the troops, reiterated Russia's hopes for peace but said the country must be in readiness to defend itself, as the German proletariat, in conducting their fight for freedom, might involve all Europe.

Clara Zetkin, the famous radical, asked the Russians not to lose patience or confidence with the workers of Germany who had a heavy task before them but were sure ultimately to win. Basil Kolaroff, the Bulgarian revolutionists, expressed similar opinion.

Final Returns Show Giles Elected As County Supervisor

(Special to The Bee)

CHATHAM, Va., Nov. 8.— The official count of the returns in Tuesday's election had not been completed entirely early this afternoon but the long ticket had been partially counted—sufficiently to show that L. S. Giles an independent candidate for supervisor from Pigg River district defeated D. T. Rorer, the regular Democratic nominee by the narrow margin of eleven votes.

Final figures available when the electoral board adjourned for dinner showed that 320 votes were cast for the bond issue and 2,740 against the issue. Alexander Forward received 2,767 votes in Pitsylvania and J. Cloyd Byars his opponent for the state corporation commission secured 201. The following figures show the trend of the support given the nominees. N E. Clement, 3,330; W. A. Garrett 3,161; R. D. Carter, 3,293; H. D. Shepherd, 3,316; C. R. Warren, 3,384.

R. C. Collie defeated G. H. Franklin for justice of the peace by 9 votes The commissioners of the revenue elected are J. H. Oakes, T. M. Overbey, S. F. Brown and W. L. Keesee.

Callas' Trial In Corporation Court

The Corporation court was engaged today in the trial of Mike Callas who was indicted at the last term of court for pandering and whose trial was postponed then on account of the illness of the chief prosecuting witness Callas is charged with an offense similar to that known in the Federal courts as white slavery, it being charged that he profited through the operations of a young white woman who came here from Hopewell. Comparatively few witnesses were put on the stand today and the arguments were commenced before court adjourned for dinner

Lonnie Hayden charged with a grave offense committed against a sixteen-year-old girl was put on trial yesterday afternoon. The case lasted until late in the evening the jury returning after a lapse of two hours to say that it had been unable to reach a verdict. Further opportunity was afforded this morning to arrive at a verdict but again the jury reported it was hopelessly hung and a mistrial was ordered. The defendant was vigorously prosecuted and scathingly denounced in the final summing up of the case in which the double standard of morals was touched upon The case was exceptionally sorbid and was heard by only a small number of spectators Hayden's defense was a complete denial.

O. L. Whitworth was yesterday committed to jail as a witness. He is cited to appear for the commonwealth in an indictment charging J. L Fields and Charlie Lee with selling liquor. Police Officer Talley saw Whitworth walking towards the railway station yesterday and apprehended him, on the assumption that he was leaving the city. Whitworth is said to have declared that he had been called to the home of a relative in a nearby city. He was taken before Judge Withers who required a bond of $100 for his appearance as a witness and being unable to give the bond he was placed in jail.

DECREE IS SIGNED.

MYSTERY

Richard Dieters, night telephone operator at a fashionable Brooklyn (N. Y.) club, has disappeared, police were toll . His wife (above) has accused a certain prominent clubman of "hounding" her husband. Dieters' coat and hat were found on a bridge, but it is not thought he committed suicide. The clubman questioned denies all knowledge of the disappearance. Below are Dieters' children, Richard, Jr, (left), and Catherine.

500 ENGINEERS AND FIREMEN ON VIRGINIAN OUT

(By The Associated Press)

NORFOLK, Va, Nov 8 —Between 400 and 500 locomotive engineers and firemen constituting approximately two-thirds of the engine crews of the Virginian Railway, went on strike at six o'clock this morning in the face of an order from the United States Railway Labor Board that the threatened strike be held in abeyance pending a hearing of both sides before the board November 14th.

Vice-Prsident C. H. Hix, of the Virginian, telegraphed the Labor Board from Norfolk today asking authority to employ men to fill their places in order that the entire schedule of trains might be kept in operation pending settlement of the dispute of which the strike is an outgrowth

The operation of the Virginian, according to a statement from Vice-President Hix early today, is not being seriously handicapped. Freight and passenger traffic over the road are both very light just at this period, he said, and the strike today was not expected to reduce the operations by more than 20 per cet. unless other operatives walk out in sympathy with the striking engineers and firemen.

Mr. Hix estimated that not more than 400 of the engineers and firemen had quit their posts.

At some points along the line of the Virginian reports were telegraphed to Vice-President Hix here, that engine crews had abandoned their trains on sidings after drawing the water from their boilers and the fire from their fire boxes.

These acts Mr. Hix declared were in violation of all the ethics of railway employes He said he had never heard of such high-handed practices in his years of experience as a railroad official.

Usually, he said, it is customary for striking trainmen to take their trains to the nearest terminus of the road and leave them there

The abandoned locomotives in this case, Mr. Hix added, must be towed into shops before their boilers can be refilled with water and steam gotten up again.

Officials of the Virginian here did not anticipate trouble at a late hour today from trainmen of other branches in sympathy with the striking engineers and firemen who are members of the Brotherhood or Locomotive Engineers Conductors and brakemen on all trains were on duty early today and there had been no threats of a spread of the strike in this direction

Some 300 engineers and firemen on the Virginian were still on duty early this afternoon Some of these were regular crews who are members of the Brotherhood but who had refused to obey the strike order issued by officials of the Brotherhood. Others were men who had previously been enginemen and firemen but who recently had been employed in other positions with the road

The walkout was viewed by officials of the Virginian president this afternoon as a direct defiance of the law, since it followed almost immediately on the heels of an official order from the United States Railway Labor Board that the threat of strike be held in abeyance until the dispute from which it arose could be settled in open hearing before the board on November 14.

Dispatches from Chicago early today stated that the Labor Board, in taking charge of the Virginian dispute, acted under a section of the to assume jurisdiction of a dispute on transportation act giving it authority its own initiative when an interruption of traffic is threatened. The Virginian strikers are, according to Chicago reports entirely without their rights in striking before taking their

Impeachment Trial of Walton Begins

Loses Fight For Federal Intervention—Still Claims Fair Trial Will Not Be Given by Senate.

(By The Associated Press.)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 8.— Denied federal intervention by which he hoped to halt impeachment proceedings against him, Governor J. C Walton will go to trial today before the state Senate on 22 charges of official misconduct.

The executive is determined to make another bid for government mediation on the grounds that he would not be given a fair trial because the state legislature conspired before-hand with the Ku Klux Klan to remove him from office.

It is predicted that the impeachment hearing will be long drawn out possibly lasting a month or more, since the governors counsel say they will insist that the court hear evidence on all of the charges before voting upon a verdict. Conviction on one of the impeachment articles automatically would remove him from office.

Judge John H. Cotteral in federal court at Lawton late yesterday refused to grant the governor's application for an injunction to restrain the legislature from proceeding with the trial holding that his court had no jurisdiction.

The court left the way open, however for another ruling on the petition when it granted the governor a new hearing at a date yet to be set An appeal to the United States supreme court will be taken if the action finally is denied, the executives counsel indicated.

While the proceedings were being held at Lawton, Governor Walton's counsel appeared before the Senate court here and entered a plea of not guilty at the same time making a sweeping denial of all impeachment allegations.

Reading of his lengthy answer to the charges, which the court dispensed with late yesterday, will require all the morning, with introduction of evidence to be started this afternoon.

Plans To Fight Boll Weevil Laid

(By The Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Plans of Southern farmers represented in the American Cotton Association to combat the boll weevil were laid before President Coolidge today by Harvie Jordan, of St. Matthews, S. C., secretary of the association The president is said to have told Mr. Jordan that he would assure the association of the government's cooperation.

Auction Sales Season's Heaviest Co-Op Receipts Also Show Gain

Auction sales of tobacco on the Danville market are today the heaviest of the season and for the first time since the market resumed operations early in October, it will be impossible to sell all [illegible] is offered. The sales will not "blow [illegible] the old sense of the word, but there will be two continued sales [illegible] at Piedmont and one at Central warehouses where sales were begun early this afternoon and where the receipts were so large that all of the piles could not be sold by the regular hour of suspending the day's work. The sales will be resumed at these two warehouses tomorrow. When the sales began this morning it was estimated that more than 900,000 pounds of tobacco was offered on the floors of the seven warehouses. A double sale was put on at Acree's warehouse in order to expedite the process of selling there. Tomorrow will probably be another heavy day on the auction floors.

A somewhat better tone in prices has been observed on the local market during the past day or two on desirable types of tobacco. The quality of the leaf here for sale shows little change from that brought in during the past month The price increase is expected to be reflected in the Danville market average for the week, which figures will become available tomorrow. This, it was forecast today would between $26 and $27.

Deliveries of leaf at the two local receiving warehouses of the Co-operative Marketing Association also showed a considerable increase in volume today though it was remarked that there have been several days on which the amount of tobacco brought in by grower members of the association has kept the graders fully engaged. Both at Producers and at Farmers warehouses it was reported that the graders would remain busy for the rest of the day The association receiving points are not subject to the daily fluctuation in deliveries as are th eauction warehouses, it was pointed out this morning, the deliveries having been consistently heavy. Attaches of these warehouses reported that the members of the association were well satisfied with the cash advances which are in excess of those made last year.

"Father and Son" Celebration At Schoolfield Friday

A "Father and Son" celebraton will be held at the Schoolfield Y. M. C. A. Friday afternoon beginning at, 6:30 o'clock. The celebration will be unique in many respects, inasmuch as a journey through a portion of a boy's life will be depicted. The train is scheduled to run from "Badtown to Boyville" Stops will be made at "Mischiefburg," "Eatmore," "Beanville" and other stops. Ed Hall will be the conductor and many stunts are on the program.

Following this ridiculed part of the program, speakers will be heard. Rev. T. A. Smoot will deliver the main address. C. E Clarke will make a welcoming talk. E. J. Wentz will do a lot of "stunts." Music for the occasion will be furnished by the R. M. I. orchestra.

Supper will then be served, the menu to consist of roast chicken, Old Virginia ham, green peas, candied yams, fruit salad and ice cream and cake.

Prepare to Close Probe Of Proposed Ry. Consolidations

(By The Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Final arrangements were made today for the closing of the Interstate Commerce Commissions investigation into the possibility of railroad consolidation in the United States, January 7th being set for hearing oral arguments of counsel for railroads General notice was given that between now and that time all the States, municipalities and shippers organizations interested may file briefs.

At hearings which have been conducted almost continuously over a period of 18 months, the Commission has elicited views of practically all railroad executives and of others interested in the proposals made in the transportation act to allow the consolidation of all the major railroads into 18 or 20 great merger corporations The commission has prepared its own tentative plans for the conduct of the consolidations but has no authority under the present law to enforce it.

Appalachian Power Co. To Decide Step Within Ten Days

A decision will be made within the next ten days by the Appalachian Power Company relative to its proposed step to enter Martinsville and to furnish electric current in that town. This information was received by telephone following enquiries relative to the precise status of the power company's proposition made nearly six months ago and which elicited some interest here since it was thought possible the West Virginia Company might make a bid to enter Danville.

However, no definite contract has been made with the company to enter Martinsville and the whole matter is still in what might be termed tentative stage. It was stated that the requisite number of pledges to use power of the company has been secured and that Martinsville and the surrounding section is ready to meet the terms of the contract which were outlined when agents of the concern visited the town and canvassed the industrial concerns.

Increased Hope For Reparations Meet

Washington and Paris Continue Conversations—No Word of Progress Made Given Out.

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 — Beyond the fact that direct conversations between the Washington and Paris governments are continuing, there was no indication here today as to what progress is being made in the effort to clear the way for an agreement on the scope of the proposed expert inquiry into the reparations question

A detailed explanation of the French position has been laid before officials here. After receiving this in a half hour conference with Ambasador Jusserand late yesterday, Secretary Hughes avoided any comment whatever, on the outlook, while the French ambassador confined himself to the statement that the conversations were continued, adding that "when there is a definite result it will be brought to your notice." The secretary went directly from the conference to the White House to report developments to President Coolidge.

The fact that the exchange of viewpoints here with the French government continues, is accepted in some quarters as indicating at least the hope is still retained of reconciling the American and French positions and thus clearing the way for an understanding among the allies in extending an invitation for American co-operation in the proposed inquiry. This was linked with press for American co-operation in the proposed inquiry This was linked with press reports of increased hope at Paris of an ultimate agreement among the allies as also supplying an optimistic tinge.

Competing Teams Win $7,625 Today Donors Total 862

Second Day's Canvass Swells Chest Total—Sum Yet to Be Raised $17,395 — Over Confidence Warned Against.

Danville's second Community Chest campaign moved perceptibly nearer to its goal today with a total amount of $7,625 reported by the captains of the 15 competing teams at the one o'clock dinner which was served in the auditorium of the Young Men's Christian Association. Today's returns added to what had been previously reported brought the total amount so far pledged for the support of nine of the community's worthiest charity organizations to $47,655 leaving $17,395 to be secured. Workers felt confident this afternoon after scanning the reports, for it showed that the second day in the field had resulted in a larger response than was made yesterday. This was considered as an encouraging sign.

Devotion on the part of the workers to this community cause was further emphasized today by the abandonement by business men and women of their daily occupation to put their shoulder to the wheel. The same also applied to women of the community who let their household duties go to give their full time and their best energy towards putting the campaign over

Rev. J. M. Shelburne pastor of the First Baptist church, opened this afternoon's luncheon-rally with a prayer following which Colonel Carrington, the general chairman assumed control of the meeting and spurred the workers on to greater effort. He called on Bryant Heard for a few remarks and the Kiwanis first-string jester responded in his usual humorous vein. William P. Boatwright uttered a word of warning against overconfidence in the present campaign and urged the workers not to relinquish the winning spirit. He depicted conditions which would exist in Danville today were it not for the nine organizations in whose support the people of the community are asked to donate funds during the present week.

The women's teams have put the male workers in the shade and are getting better results judging from the cold figures cited hereunder. To Miss Mayzie Wills Penn went today's premier honors, for her team reported a total of $728 from 34 subscribers. O. L. Roach's team reported the largest number of individual contributions —the day's tally showing 45 donors.

On Saturday the dinner will be advanced half an hour in order to give the workers a chance to witness the Armistice Day parade. Luncheon will be served at 12:30 p. m.

Following are the chest statistics with today's results, showing the number of subscribers and amount subscribed:

Division A, Mrs. A. D. Keen, leader. —Team 1, Mrs. E. N. Z. Ellis, captain, 24; $192.00. Team 2, Mrs. C. C. Johnson, captain, 22: $556.00. Team 3, Mrs. J. M. Robinson, captain, 30; $607.50. Team 4, Miss Mary Ruffin, captain, 35; $693.50.

RHEUMATISM --NEURITIS

LEAVE YOU FOREVER

Mr. James H. Allen suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery to others who took it, with what might be called marvelous success After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. He has therefore instructed druggists everywhere to dispense ALLENRHU with the understanding that he will freely return the purchase money on the first pint bottle to all who state they received no benefit.—adv.

TOBACCO NEWS

GROWER GETS 30 DAYS IN JAIL

(Special from Tobacco Growers News Bureau.)

RALEIGH, N. C., Nov 7.—Continued violation of their contract with the Tobacco Growers Co-operative Association, following an injunction of the court, resulted in a sentence of thirty days in jail and a fine of $250 each for R. O. Stephens and T. W. Morris of Rockingham county, who were today adjudged in contempt of court by Superior Court Judge Henry P. Lane at Winston-Salem.

Morris and Stephens when served with the order restraining them from delivery of their tobacco outside of the marketing association declared they were going to sell their tobacco at auction in defiance of the injunction, according to the testimony brought out at today's trial. The defendants later slipped their tobacco across the Virginia border and sold on the Danville market, where the new state law requires all tobacco to be sold in the name of the owner, according to the testimony in court today.

Within the past month five tobacco growers and a warehousmean have been punished for contempt of court in violating or assisting in the violation of the contract of the Tobacco Growers Co-op association and in the latest cases the penalties imposed by the courts have become increasingly severe.

The Tobacco Association has already obtained judgment by default against R. O. Stephens for the sale of his 1922 crop in a case pending in the Wake oCunty Superior Court The association was represented in today's cases by Theodore Bowen of its legal department and by J. M. Sharpe, of Winston-Salem.

The largest first cash advance ever paid from an association warehouse for a single curing of tobacco from one barn was received by E. R. Mabrey, of Angier, at the association warehouse in Fuquay Springs, when his load of 820 pounds brought a first advance payment of $253.33 of more than thirty dollars a hundred pounds. Mr. Mabrey's curing contained over 750 pounds of wrappers which averaged $32 50 a hundred.

DARK TOBACCO SELLS WELL AT BLACKSTONE

BLACKSTONE, Va., Nov. 7—Auction sales of dark tobacco opened on this market today under the most auspicious circumstances witnessed for years this being borne out by statements made by growers as well as buyers and dealers.

Prices on all grades was above what had been expected prior to the opening and averaged up well with the high prices of last season and even beyond those. The floor average, and there was but little of the higher grades offered, was about 23 cents per pound. these ranging from 6 to 51 cents. Some growers made an average of 35 cents for their entire loads, but these, of course, were exceptionally good loads.

Those who claim to know, say that today's sales were merely what is to be expected for the season, since the demand for good dark tobacco is exceptionally active, such as is produced in this portion of the dark tobacco belt.

It was evident from the offerings of today that this year's crop is far superior to that of last, no "house-burned" nor "wild-fire" goods having appeared upon the market.

With the present good "season," enabling stripping o be done, heavy sales are expected from this time forward.

RICHMOND TOBACCO MARKETS ARE OPEN

RIHMOND, Va, Nov. 7—On account of the continued rain yesterday the tobacco brought to the local markets on opening day was of small volume and not choice quality, as a whole. Sales are expected to increase towards the end of the week, and better quality of the weed is also expected. Sales ranged from $4.90 to $15 per 100 pounds yesterday.

GIRL CONFESSES SHE WAS WITH ALLEGED KILLER

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—Ethel Beck, 19, after many hours questioning by the police, broke down this evening and confessed that she was with Walter Boeckelman when the latter shot Mathhew Lehman, early Sunday morning. Boeckelman and the girl were tampering with the lock on a knitting factory when Lehman, a watchman, came upon them. As he started to question them, Boeckelman shot him down and also wounded a detective who was with him.

The Beck girl, who is remarkably pretty, is known around the all-night resorts as "Blonde Kitty." Her confession was the last link required to fasten the murder upon Boeckelman. He had attempted to set up an alibi which his wife shattered.

"The children and I have not had a decent meal in months and we are in rags," said the wife. "When I would ask him for money he would order me to go out on the street and get it. He even pawned my wedding ring to get money to spend on other women He has killed every shred of love and respect the children and I had for him and I hope he hangs for this murder."

Boeckelman first told the police he was working on a morning newspaper at the hour of the murder, but this was disproved. He then said he was at home and asleep, but his wife said he came in at 1 o'clock, set the alarm clock for 3 o'clock, at which time he arose and hastened away. The murder was committed at 3 o'clock that morning

Girl Reporter Gets Religion

BY JOSEPHINE VAN DE GRIFT

(Special to The Bee)

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Well, I've hit the trail and gone and got religion.

I didn't know I was going to get it, In fact I've fought shy of churches for years and years just so I wouldn't. But when I heard of this John Bovingdon and his church of Rhythmic Activity, "Here, girlie," I says, "is one church where you're immune. You're too fat to dance and your sense of humor will save you."

So I dolled up Sunday and went on over. The place was one of those studios that they use for aesthetic dancing on week days and there were 16 people sitting there all quiet and solemn. Fifteen of 'em were women. The one man was sitting a little apart from the rest and he was reading a book and had on a bright tie.

I was just getting ready to size up the women when John Bovingdon came in. He had on brown oxfords and gray woolen stockings and gray knickers and a white English broadcloth shirt open at the neck and his hair was curly and he looked like a Greek god. It would all have been too unbearably perfect if his shoes hadn't squeaked.

Well, John Bovingdon talked to us for a little while nad then we all had to go into the silence and then come up out of it and tell what mental pictures we'd had.

One woman said "vibrations" and another said "radiance" and another said "love." John Bovingdon asked her whether it was a giving or a receiving love and after she'd thought it over she was terribly afraid it was a receiving love.

Then a woman spoke up and said the feeling that came to her was one of wanting to leap and sing as she had in Sweden years ago when the sun came back after the long night. I thought that was pretty good.

Then John Bovingdon told us that the feeling which we must get in order to be en rapport, as it were, with the forces of the universe was a feeling of surrender, of rest. He invited us all to remove our hats and coats and walk out on the floor and strike an attitude that would express our idea of rest.

That was where I made my big mistake. I should have sat right where I was but I hate to be a piker So I got up with the others and started expressing my idea of rest. It was to stand with folded hands gazing on the floor the way you do when somebody has just said you're an awfully sweet girl.

After I'd expressed my idea for a while I got kinda tired and started peeking at the others to see what they were doing. One woman in a blue serge dress had thrown a pale blue drapery over her and was waving her arms back and forth the way the fire dancers used to in Colonel Horne's dime museum. The Swedish woman and her daughter were gazing upward with pale, rapt expressions

John Bovingdon expressing "struggle."

But there was no doubt about it, John Bovingdon had us in his power. All he had to do was to tell us and we'd cringe with fear or knot up into an inferiority complex or throw out our arms and our chests to express faith eternal and hope everlasting.

I had it just as bad as the rest

After we were all in a glow and had sat down again, John Bovingdon told us what it was all about. It seems all our little deviltries—selfishness, and arrogance and fear and the like—make their home in the sub-conscious mind.

Now the language that the subconscious mind can understand is the language of posture. Why, my goodness, savages expressed hate and cunning through their bodies before they ever knew how to utter a word.

So if there's anything the matter with you, fear for instance, what you want to do is to strike up an attitude suggesting fear. And after that —dance out of it into another attitude suggesting its opposite—courage or hope or something like that.

Breathing has a lot to do with it, too, says John Bovingdon, because the solar plexus is the seat of all the emotions and your lungs are right next to your solar plexus.

But I'm not quite sure about that point. I'm going back next week to find out.

OPPOSITION EXPRESSED TO DRASTIC CHANGES IN COTTON FUTURES TRADE

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Wide difference of opinion as to the advisability of establishing delivery points outside New York for the tendering of cotton on future contracts sold there developed at today's session of the federal trade commission's inquiry into the cotton inquiry.

Julis W. Cone, of the New York Cotton Exchange, declared manufacturers would be better satisfied with the futures contract if delivery were permitted elsewhere. Under present conditions, he said, not enough cotton is held in New York to protect the contract from the manufacturers standpoint.

W. J. Britton, of the Memphis Exchange said that while many merchants in Memphis favored southern warehouse delivery he was opposed to it on the ground that it would have ill effect on the producers, the plan, he said would make the contract more difficult to sell by making it less valuable from the buying standpoint. He believed the effects he feared and the results sought through the suggestion could be accommodated by making the future contract more flexible as to length of time permitted for delivery when a "squeeze" operation became apparent.

Chiticism of Department of Agriculture statistics was answered by Mr. Britton with the statement that they prevented excessively wild fluctuations in quotations by preparing the trade gradually for great changes in conditions

Harvey Jordan of St. Matthews, S. C., representing the growers' division of the American Cotton Association told the commission they regarded the southern delivery proposal as impracticable and likely to depress the price of spot cotton. Both growers and spinners, he said, need well organized exchanges to stabilize price, and he was opposed to any material change in the law, though it might be amended to give the buyer more equal rights with the seller by making the dates for delivery more flexible. At present, he explained, the seller of a contract has about 30 days in which to tender, while the buyer is given only the last few days of the month in which to demand delivery.

William P. Jenks of the New York Exchange, told the commission he favored extension of delivery points outside New York provided a differential under the New York quotation covering freight and other charges were allowed. If such differentials were not permitted, he said, the plan would have a depressing effect on the contract. The proposal he declared, would reduce the danger of near month positions, selling at unnatural premiums, and therefore would improve the facilities of the market for hedging operations. He differed with other witnesses in his opinion that the measure would benefit the small shippers and increase competition.

Allen F. Johnson of Lynchburg, Va., representing the American Cotton Manufacturers Association said extension of the right to tender cotton outside New York would make the future contract of greater advantage to the buyer and would eliminate "the dangerous premium" for near months. Hedging operations at present, he said, did not provide the insurance against loss that they should. He urged that something be done to overcome the wide swings in prices prevailing recently, which he asserted he was unable to explain. The speculators he said, were of service in stabilizing prices, and he feared such traders would be driven from the market if the number of grades tenderable on a contract were limited further. Designation of stuthern and on New England points for delivery, he thought, would not result in "bear manipulation would bring spot and future quotations nearer a parity and would reduce the discount on distant future positions.

Benjamin C. Marsh, managing director of the Farmers' National Counsel, also addressed the hearing, declaring that the cotton farmres demand establishment of a government marketing corporation to buy and sell cotton and thus eliminate the middle men and speculators.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 30c.

Dr. Dodd Speaks On Robt. E. Lee At Averett College

With the chapel of Averett College filled with an attentive audience Dr. W. E. Dodd Phd., of the University of Chicago, gave under the auspices of the Ladies Wednesday Afternoon Club, a lecture on "R. E. Lee and the crisis of the Confederacy."

Dr. Dodd who was born in Clayton, N. C., and taught in Virginia colleges was presented to his hearers by Attorney John W. Carter, Jr., his former pupil. The speaker in terse and unadorned language gave a concise and clearcut picture of the life of Gen. Lee and the role the Confederate chieftain played in the momentous days of the civil war from the opening guns at Sumpter to the end of the struggle. As a military genius the speaker placed Lee in the ranks with the most brilliant that history has produced. An aristocrat by environment and a democrat at hart, Lee typified an ideal cultured production of the time, endowed as he was with all that was best in an English and American acteristic simplicity portrayed the 2 htat it required 150 years to produce a Robert E. Lee and feared that another century and a half could not give the world his equal.

In comparing the characters of Lee and Grant, Dr. Dodd with characteristic sincerity portrayed the two leaders in the radically different aspects of their personalities.

Under the generalship of Lee the Confederacy won campaign after campaign to the despair of the North with armies mostly inferior numerically than those of the union. Lee successively defeated every Northern general sent against him and felt confident that ultimate victory would be with him. His victorious armies swept northern Virginia of the invaders and cleared the path to Gettysburg, thought by some historians the Armageddon of the Civil War. After the carmage of Gettysburg and the retreat southward, Lee, according to the speaker continued to be confident for he believed like Nepoleon that the star of his destiny would lead to eventural victory for Confederate arms. Grant, who replaced Meade, took over the destiny of the Federal forces and was sent against Lee in Virginia. Misjudging Grants feint on Marvern Hill where Lee expected Grant had planned for a major engagement he was slow to believe that the Union forces had crossed the James and taken up a position in front of Petersburg. This overconfidence on Lee's part was his one great strategical error.

The gallant Lee admitted he had failed. Entering the conflict vigorous and dark haired he emerged broken in health and gray. Lee like Woodrow Wilson fought the good fight and received nothing except undying fame. Only a colossal character can stand up, face the world and unfalteringly utter "I failed."

Had Lee won, Lincoln would have failed, the Union would have been rent sunder and two sovereignties established. The speaker mentioned that had this come to pass each would have espoused opposing courses in the world war and instead of an army of five million men sent to aid the allies the central powers might have been successful and Germany dominated the world. Destiny plays its hand and the fate of a civilization sometimes depends upon incidents trival and apparently inconsequential. That "He embaressed God" as Victor Hugo said of Napoleon, Dr. Dodd intimated, might apply with equal truth to Robert E. Lee.

WOMAN WINS FIGHT WITH A TIMBER WOLF

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)

EMPORIA, Kans., Nov. 7.—Mrs. J. E. Adams, wife of a Kansas farmer, fought a successful battle with a timber wolf today, killing the animal with a pitchfork. The wolf was attempting to catch chickens when Mrs. Adams, mistaking it for a coyote, tried to scare it away with a hay fork. The wolf turned on the woman and with her back against a wagon she fought the animal for ten minutes beating it with the fork handle and jabbing with it at times. The wolf was 52 inches long, the largest ever seen in this part of Kansas.

To Renew Warrants Against Klansmen

Johnson Announces That Peace Warrants Against Three Ku Klux Officials Which Were Dismissed Yesterday, Will Be Renewed.

(By The Associated Press)

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 8.—William Joseph Simmons, emperor of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, today issued a signed statement in which he hurled a challenge to Dr. H. W. Evans, imperial wizard of the organization, to "come out into the open and give the public the facts" in connection with the shooting to death of Captain Wm. S. Coburn by Phil E. Fox, publicity agent of the Klan, here Monday afternoon.

(By The Associated Press.)

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 8.—Chief interest here today in the developments in Ku Klux Klan affairs following the shooting to death last Monday of W. S. Coburn, Klan attorney by P. E. Fox, Klan publicity man, centered in the announcement from Birmingham, Ala., by Dr. Fred B. Johnston, chief of staff of William Joseph Simmons, emperor of the order, that he would renew the peace warrants issued Tuesday against three klan officials on his complaint upon his return to Atlanta from Birmingham.

The warrants were against H. W. Evans, imperial wizard of the Klan; H. K. Ramsey, imperial kligraf; Brown Harwood, imperial klazik, and T. J. McKinnon, head of the investigation department of the organization. The warrants against Ramsey, Harwood and McKinnon were dismissed yesterday when Dr. Johnston failed to appear. The warrant against Dr. Evans still was in effect early today, service not having been obtained.

Ths warrants were issued when Dr. Johnston charged that he had reasons to fear for his safety, following a threat he alleged was made by Fox against himself, Emperor Simmons, E. Y. Clarke and Coburn. The subsequent killing of Coburn, he stated, caused him to place credence in the threats made by Fox.

The whereabouts of Imperial Wizard Evans was unknown early today. He was said to be on a speaking tour.

A continuation of the investigation of the killing of Coburn was scheduled today by Solicitor General Boykin. According to information from the solicitor's office, an attempt will be made to begin the Fox's trial early next week. Mrs. Fox consulted with several attorneys yesterday but had given no indication early today of any defense plans.

Further examination of Fox for mental disorders was probable today according to announcement by his family physician, Dr. Linton.

Fox, in jail here, intimated that he will maintain the strict silence that has characterized his attitude since the slaying Monday, until he has engaged counsel.

500 Engineers and Firemen Are Out

side of the controversy before the board for its decision.

CLAIM MEN DISREGARDED ORDER OF LABOR BOARD

(By The Associated Press)

ROANOKE, Va., Nov. 8.—Engineers and firemen on the Virginia Railway struck all along the line this morning at 6 o'clock, according to information received from E. H. Birchfield, general agent for the road here, disregarding the order of the United States Railroad Labor Board to the men to delay their action until November 14.

A long distance telephone message from Princeton, W. Va., said five hundred men had gone out there. Mr. Birchfield said the road had a reserve force of engineers and firemen with which it was able to move all trains from Roanoke promptly.

The dispute between the Virginian and its engineers and firemen is said to have arisen when several men were discharged more than a month ago, the road giving the men a hearing and refusing to reinstate them, but offering to take the matter to the United States Railroad Labor Board when Brotherhood officials expressed dissatisfaction with the road's action in refusing to take the discharged men back.

The Railway Labor Board's action in ordering the men to delay their strike followed the sending of a telegram to the board yesterday by Vice-President Hix, stating that Brotherhood officials had notified him that they would strike within 24 hours if the discharged men were not taken back.

Dispatches from Chicago state that the United States Railroad Labor Board, in taking charge of the Virginian dispute, acted on a section of the transportation act giving it power to assume jurisdiction of a dispute on its own initiative when an interruption of traffic is threatened.

The Virginia strikers are, according to Chicago reports from the Labor Board, entirely without their rights in striking before taking their case before the board.

ROAD CAN FILL VACANCIES LABOR BOARD ADVISES

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—The United States Railroad Labor Board in reply to a telegram from C. H. Hix, vice-president of the Virginian Railway, on whose lines many engineers and firemen went on strike today, advised him there was nothing in the board's order of last night to prohibit the road acting in an emergency to fill the vacanices resulting from the walkout.

ROBERTSON NOT INFORMED.

(By The Associated Press.)

CLEVELAND, Nov. 8.—D. B. Robertson, president of the Brotherhood of Firemen and Enginemen, when told of the walkout of firemen and engineers on the Virginian Railway this morning said he had received no report from an officer of his organization on the scene and would have nothing to say until he received such report. Warren S. Stone, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, could not be reached this morning. The firemen and engineers each have an office at Roanoke to handle the situation, Mr. Robertson said. Negotiations with the company have been going on for about a year, he said, regarding working conditions, alleged ill treatment of employes and methods of enforcing discipline.

When the britherhood presidents receive reports from their representatives at Roanoke regarding the situation the chief executives will probably hold a conference to determine what action to take, Mr. Robertson said.

LABOR BOARD MEETS TO CONSIDER THE SITUATION

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.— After receivig a telegram that engineers and firemen of the Virginian Railway had one on strike today, the United States Railroad Labor Board went into executive session this morning to consider the situation.

Apprised late yesterday in a telegram from C. H. Hix, vice president of the Virginia road of the men's threat to strike, the board telegraphed the union organizations citing them to appear before the board on November 14 and to maintain the status quo pending a settlement of the dispute. This action was taken under the Transportation Act empowering the board on its own initiative to take jurisdiction of a dispute threatening to interrupt transportation.

The strike, it appears, is largely an outgrowth of the shopmen's strike in 1922. Acording to information given to the Labor Board, five men holding membership in the Engineer's and Firemen's Brotherhoods but at that time not actually in the train service during the strike, refused to perform certain duties ordinarily done by shopmen. The unions claim these men were dismissed while the Railroad Company asserts they left their job in a disorderly manner.

Six others, three engineers, and three firemen, according to the board's information were dismissed because the employes say, they refused to take out engines which were in unsafe condition but the road asserts the engines had been inspected and were in safe condition. Another employe was dismissed, the men claim because of the damage of two engines in a collision but the company declared the employe was dismissed because of carelessness. Still another grievance presented by the employes was the road's requirement of two pushers at the rear of trains going through Clark's Gap tunnel which the men contended was a hardship on the enginemen because of gas and steam and that one of the two pusher locomotives could have been placed in the middle of the train.

Religion Has Been Forsaken By the Church Says Minister As He Quits

(By The Associated Press.)

DETROIT, Nov. 8.—Political stump speeches from the pulpit and unceasing "criticism of the best government on earth" in place of solid religion has led Horatio S. Earle, for 30 years a member of the Cass Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church, and part of that time a member of its official board, to tender his resignation to Dr. Robert L. Tucker, its pastor. Mr. Earle said today:

"I am tired of hearing nothing but dry and election propaganda and criticism of men like Police Commissioner Frank H. Croul when I go to church on Sunday. That isn't what church is for. I have stood it as long as I can and my resignation is simply a protest against it.

Remains Christian.

"I have not given up my place as a Christian gentleman by this action. I hope to remain one as long as I live. But what the church has been doing is not my idea of Christianity.

"When I go to church I want to hear the Gospel. I want to be told how I must live to be a better man. All this stuff the preachers are pouring out constitutes desecration of the pulpit, in my opinion.

"The churches, all churches of all denominations, used to be dry, while I was a little wet. Today the churches are wet and I am dry. They stand for strict enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead law, which never can be enforced. In doing so they only encourage bootleggers and all the ills that come with it.

Compete For First Page.

"There was a day when the churches preached temperance. That was good. It was in line with the Gospels. In those days preachers confined themselves to the Christian religion, as set forth in the Gospels, today the preachers compete for space on the front pages of the newspapers, and talk about everything else under the sun except the religion they profess

All The Same, He Says.

"I am crying out against any one church in particular, nor against any one preacher. They all seem to be bitten by the same desire for notoriety and influence in things outside the church. I have only the greatest love and admiration for Mr. Tucker. It is a matter of principle with me."

Mr. Earle is a one-time candidate for Governor of Michigan and "father of Michigan good roads"

Cruiser Brings Story of Crew's Heroism at Sea

(By The Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 8.—The scout cruiser Richmond, in port from a four months' trip to three continents during which she travelled 18,000 miles, brought a story of heroism of three members of the crew during a storm on October 17, five days out from Pernambuco.

Ons side of the ship's radio antenna snapped off in the hurricane and then a portion if the main top mast gave way and hung by a few strands of wire. Without waiting for orders Boatswain Mates J. E. Greer, W. J. Barron and L. Puterbaugh swarmed up the mast to release the broken part which was swinging dangerously. As they were lowering it, the broken topmast fell and pinned Greer to the platform in the main mast, breaking his leg. With the cruiser rolling and pitching in the storm a block and tackle was rigged by members of the crew and Greer was lowered in a boatswain char.

Cotton Ginning Shows Decrease Over Last Year

(By The Associated Press)

WASHHINGTOTN, Nov. 8.— Cotton of this year's crop ginned prior to November 1 aggregated 7,554,587 running bales, compared with 8,139,215 bales ginned to that date last year and 6,646,354 bales to the same date in 1921, the census bureau announced todya. Ginnings included 194,677 round bales counted as half bales; 11,521 bales of American Egyptian and 437 bales of sea is and compared with 142,269 round bales to November 1 last year, 13,335 bales of American Egyptian and 316 bales of sea island.

Coolidge Asked to Stop Bootlegging Around Hospitals

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—President Coolidge was appealed to today to stop bootlegging in the vicinity of Veterans' hospitals.

McCarthy chapter number 13, disabled American Veterans, all the members of which are patients at hospital number 37 at Waukesha, Wisconsin, in a resolution forwarded here protested to Mr. Coolidge as well to all others having to do with law enforcement against conditions in the vicinity of that institution which were described as "unbearable and deplorable."

"We feel" said the resolution, "that it was not the intention of the American people when they adopted the 18th Amendment and established hospitals all over the United States for the purpose of rehabilitation, that a certain class of citizens or residents at least, should ply their trade by selling poisonous moonshine, home brew and various other dope to a certain class of patients of the above mentioned hospitals who on account of the nature of their disabilities are unable to resist the temptation"

Kills Wife and Self Because She Refused to Return

(By The Associated Press.)

SMITHFIELD, N. C., Nov. 8.—A. E. Flowers, a tenant farmer, yesterday, shot and instantly killed his wife, slightly wounded Earle Stephenson, a youth, and then ended his own life, according to a report made to the sheriff's office today. Stephenson was struck by a stray bullet while sitting on a log in the front yard of the Flowers home.

The Flowers had been separated for several years and, according to the sheriff, the shooting followed the refusal of Mrs. Flowers to return to her husband when he called on her yesterday.

MINISTER FREED OF RECKLESS DRIVING CHARGE

(By The Associated Press.)

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 8.—Rev. W. B. Keene, Jr., pastor of Lynnhaven Methodist church, was freed of a charge of reckless driving in Police court today. He was alleged to have narrowly escaped running down a traffic sergeant. He claimed that he did not see the traffic officer until he had almost ran him down.

SERVICE OF THE COMMUNITY WELFARE ASSOCIATION

Recently a stranded transient was referred to the C. W. A. for advice. She was without money, friends or a place to stay. She was given necessary care immediatley. Within 24 hours information was secured from four cties, three of which were in different states. This was possible because many family service agencies throughout the country have entered into an agreement to make investigations for one another. Thus the association was enabled to deal intelligently with the case as a complete history of the woman was secured.

Asheville Woman Is Electrocuted In Kitchen By Electric Washing Machine

ASHEVILLE, Nov. 8.— Mrs. Mary Ambler Carpenter, wife of W. B. Carpenter, assistant cashier of the National Bank of Commerce and daughter of Dr. Chase P. Ambler, prominent Asheville physician and one of the best known Masonic officials in the state, was instantly killed shortly before noon today at her home in Norwood park when a high tension wire fell across smaller wires leading into the Carpenter home overcharging water pipes and an electric washing machine with which she came into contact. Artificial means of respiration and other aids applied by her brother, Dr. Arthur Ambler who arrived soon after Mrs. Carpenter was shocked, failed to revive her.

While Mrs. Carpenter was in the kitchen a limb of a large tree fell across the high tension wire about 150 yards from the Carpenter home the wire became tangled with smaller wires leading into the Carpenter home and also touched the ground.

Death came instantaneously, a servant finding Mrs. Carpenter lying up on the gitchen floor.

The Carpenters and Amblers are among the most prominent families in this section of the state, Dr. C. P. Ambler being a past potentate of

Boll Weevil Makes Appearance In Va. Not Far From Here

The boll weevil has made its appearance in Virginia for the first time according to a statement made to a reporter for the Bee by J. L. Dove, demonstration agent of Caswell county who states he made the discovery yesterday at Ringgold. While comparatively little cotton is grown about Danville, its cultivation is on the increase and Mr. Dove's revelations are considered important. He is reporting the circumstances both to the agricultural department at Raleigh, N. C., and at Richmond.

The discovery of the insect pest was made more by accident than anything else. Mr. Dove was on his way to Danville from Milton, N. C., coming by way of Ringgold. He passed a field in which cotton has been growing and found a number of plants, which had been left standing some of the bolls having opened others being immature and ruined by recent frosts. He stopped to examine the plants and on opening a number of bolls he found these to be freely infected by the tiny beetle which has a sharp proboscis with which it penetrates the outer covering of the boll. Not only was the insect to be found but also the pest in its larval state. Mr. Dove brought to Danville several plants and bolls which he opened these revealing the insect. Mr. Dove said that the discovery was a surprise to him and he expected that it would be something of a shock to the Virginia authorities as it is not generally realized that the upward sweep of the pest which has ruined thousands of cotton growers in the far South had reached this latitude.

Speaking of cotton growing in this section, Mr. Dove declared that is is being more generally practised in Caswell county than ever before. Last year Caswell county made 65 bales of cotton. This year he estimated the yie'd will be between three and four hundred bales. One farmer two years ago had such success with cotton growing near Milton that the successful result of what appeared to be a doubtful more cotton is being grown on this side of the Carlina line than ever before.

Mr. Dove said that the cotton crop is usually destroyed completely by the boll weevil three years after it has made its appearance. It propagates with amazing rapidity and the second year following the discovery of the pest in a given area hitherto free from it results in serious damage, the third year usually resulting in the crop being ruined for all practical purposes. Mr. Dove stated that the only means of combating the pest is to use calcium arsenate with a dust-gun at night. The falling of the dew at night converts the powder into a solution and when the beetle emerges for his morning drink it is quickly killed by the poisonous mixture.

TO HOLD CLINIC NEXT SATURDAY MORNING

Dr. A. F. Voschell of the University of Virginia who came to Danville some weeks ago and conducted a clinic in orthopedics will be here again to hold another next Saturday morning. He expects to examine for a second time patients brought to him on his last visit and probably several new crippled children. It is understood that he will under go an operation while here.

Delphy Commander Goes On Trial Today

Courtmartial of Naval Officers, Charged With Negligence, Gets Under Way.

(By The Associated Press)

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Nov. 8.—Having disposed yesterday of the case of Captain Edward H. Watson, destroyer division commander, charged with culrable inefficiency in the Point Honda disaster in which seven destroyers were wrecked, the courtmartial appointed to try cases growing out of the accidents proceeded today with charges against Lieutenant Commander Donald T. Hunter, commanding officer of the destroyer Delphy, flagship of the ill-fated squadron. When Captain Watson's case was concluded late yesterday, Lieutenant Commander Hunter at once took the place of his senior. The judge advocate said that he was well satisfied with all members of his senior. The judge advocate said that he was well satisfied with all members of the court. Commander G. L. Weyler, appearing as counsel for Commander Hunter, however, challenged every member of the court and the court as a whole on the ground that they had heard the evidence in the case of Captain Watson and had formed an opinion.

In each case the court overruled the challenge but it has ruled on the challenge of the court as a whole.

More Opinions On Affect Of Proposed Change

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—The federal trade commission today received further opinions on the probable effect of proposed changes in the future trading act from representatives of various branches of the cotton industry at the concluding session of the hearing conducted to obtain information requested by the Senate.

Witnesses appearing at the sessions which began Tuesday have expressed a wide difference of opinion over the effect of the proposal to permit delivery of cotton on future contracts a tpoints outside New York. Most of them, however, have opposed any material change in the present form of the contract or the law.

Celebrants Of Russian Revolt Are Fired On

(By The Associated Press)

HARBIN MANCHURIA, Nov. 7.—Four Russians were wounded, one seriously, when Chinese police fired on a crowd of communists celebrating the anniversary of the Russian revolution. The latter were marching in the streets, carrying red banners and making speeches against the police.

When the police attempted to disperse the celebrants a revolver shot was fired from the crowd. The officers returned the fire. A general fight seemed imminent until the Soviet representatives at Harbin arrived and assisted in dispersing the Russians.

Danville Library Notes

All children will find the story "Florence Nightengale," by Richards interesting now when so much is being said about the Red Cross work.

For grown ups there is a book by Richard Dehan an English writer who gives a very graphic story in fiction of the Crimean war and the terrible conditions which awoke in the mind of a woman the first idea of the Red Cross organization.

The title of the book is:

"Between Two Thieves."

"The Red Cross National and international has come to us out of the very depths of human suffering

I's history and program are well known

The annual roll is near and there is no who will not feel a stirring of the heart It has been said that genious is a great faith.

The Red Cross is the flower of a woman's faith in the power of good to overcome evil. It is the genious of the kindly spirit first manifested in the deeds of the little girl which later grew, till her faith and kindness included the world.

Danville To Send Big Delegation To Baptists' Centennial Session

The Baptist churches of Danville will send a strong delegation to Richmond next Monday when the Baptist General Association of Virginia will meet in annual session at the Second Baptist church More than usual importance attaches to this year's meeting as it is the centennial session or the one hundredth anniversary of the Virginia organization. The sessions will begin on Monday and will last through Friday. While the Second Baptist church of Richmond is the hostess church for this important meeting, the attendance is expected to be so large that most of the meetings will be held in the city auditorium. All of the Baptist ministers in the State are expected to be present as will lay representatives from the various churches. The General Assembly is akin to the annual Methodist conference except that there is no general legislation, this being left to the individual congregations

One of the features of the centennial session will be a pageant which will be staged by the University of Virginia, which will portray the work of the church during the past hundred years This will be an elabdrate undertaking, the cost of production being said to be about $25,000. Interest also will centre on the reports which will be made on the collection of pledges made for the Seventy-Five Million Campaign December 25th will round out the fourth year of the campaign period, leaving one more year. It is understood that the reports from the churches in Danville will reflect a handsome recognition of the obligation contained in the pledge. It is expected that probably two thousand persons will attend this great rally of Baptists

Ministers going from Danville will include Rev J M Shelburne, D. D., pastor of the First Baptist Church; Rev. C. J. D. Parker, of Moffett-Memorial; Rev Jesse R. Hite, Keen Street church. Rev. John Page Jones, Lee Street church; Rev. Mr. Soyars. Schoolfiel, and Rev. C. J. Robison, of Union Hill church. The Second Baptist church of the city is temporarily without a pastor, but a lay delegation will be present from that church as well as from all of the other Baptist churches in this city.

Movie Actress Wed Manager 3 Months Ago

(By The Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 8,—Hope Hampton, moving picture star, has been a bride since August, Broadway learned today. She was secretly married in Baltimore to her manager, Jules Brulatour, wealthy dealer in films used in the manufacture of motion pictures.

The wedding camefive years after Miss Hampton had walked into Mr Brulatour's office and said she wanted a chance in the movies. He organized a company and starred her in a number of pictures. Lately she had been starred by several other producers.

In 1917 Mr. Brulatour was divorced from his first wife to whom he had been married twenty three years He then married Dorothy Gibson, artists model, and the original "Harrison Fisher Girl" The second wife obtained a divorce in 1918

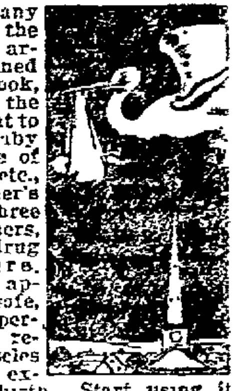
E Kerger, Slayton, Minn., says: "It pulled me through." Send for book today, to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA-76 Atlanta, Ga "Mother's Friend" is sold at all good drug stores—everywhere.



What's a Baking Powder for, anyway?

TO LEAVEN your dough and give that lightness to breads, cakes and pastries which makes such foods palatable and easily digestible.

DAVIS Baking Powder has a double leavening action

First in the dough—

Just as soon as the milk or water is added to make the dough, the leavening action starts and continues while the dough becomes warm in the first heat of the oven. This first leavening prevents cracking of the crust in a "quick" oven.

And again in the oven—

An additional or sustaining leavening action takes place in the full heat, preventing the dough from falling in a "slow" oven.

Davis double leavening means:

First—the dough will not crust and crack before it becomes "light".

Second—it will not fall in the oven.

A THOUGHT

The times of this ignorance God winked at but now commandeth all men everywhere to repent.—Acts 17:30.

It is never too late with us, so long as we are still aware of our faults and bear them impatiently—so long as noble propensities, greedy of conquest, stir within us.—Jacobi.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 8, 1923.

THE ACID TEST

It is rather natural perhaps to find severe criticism in Richmond of the portrayal of the sublimest figure of the history of the South—Robert E. Lee. It is a little unusual, however, for the flood of emotion which John Drinkwater's play produced to be let loose in the caustic criticism which has followed the Richmond premiere. The production in Richmond has created a sensation and the play has been followed by formal protests filed against the accuracy of its portrayal of General Lee and his entourage by those societies and organizations which have done so much to preserve about the South and its ideals that hallowed atmosphere which is being passed down to the generations assuring them of a reverential regard for all time Some find the fault that the whole play gives the country a wrong idea of what the South stood for and that it fails to depict accurately the life in the South of the period Others raise their voice against the dramatic effort to put the Lee of yesterday into the flesh of today, and deride the inaccuracies of the mis-en-scene. Mr Drinkwater could not have found a keener test than a presentation in Richmond, certainly no more critical audience could have viewed the play than that which viewed it there. In Richmond the minor inaccuracies stand out as glaring defects where to a northern audience familiar with Lee through booklore and history alone, they would not be recognized. One well imagines therefore to what extent Richmond feels wounded by major discrepancies in historical accuracy and that dramatic license which is usually permitted every playwright. It is very true that no dramatic impersonation of General Lee could ever come up fully to the mental image of the man impressed upon us of this generation by the men and women of yesterday and even today who knew him in the flesh. One must make allowances for a human failure at the outset just as we must make allowances for Anton Lang's portrayal of the Christus at Bayreuth. The surprising part of it really is that a man from beyond our shores has succeeded in portraying the spirit of the South with the degree of realism which, reviews of the premiere at Richmond admit, is very high.

The Richmond press does not exactly condone the mass meeting and the protest which has been registered. It has contented itself with critical studies of the presentation and in general has damned with faint praise the playwright's work. One thing stands out clearly in the episode and that is that the old capital of the South will not brooke the destruction of the image it has built up of the peerless leader It is a token of that great and unswerving loyalty to a great man, typical of the South's attitude towards those who served it valiantly during the crucial period and who, though dead, will remain enthroned in memory.

TIMES AHEAD

The business outlook is good, according to Jesse L. Livermore, known in Wall Street as the largest individual stock market operator. Mr. Livermore says:

"During the past few years the people of our country have become accustomed to living on a higher standard than heretofore, and they are not going to be satisfied to live any other way in the future. The money they spend must necessarily mean a larger purchasing power, and that purchasing power is bound to keep business going at a good volume."

Livermore is right. Thrift — the savings instinct—is a fine thing. But spending makes prosperity. For instance, people have become accustomed to buying autos. This buying makes jobs for the army of people engaged in manufacturing the cars. In turn, these car makers spend the money they receive, thus keeping busy the employes in other industries. The more we spend for legitimate purposes of production, the more jobs there are—and the more prosperity to be divided among all of us. Common sense, of course, shows us that when a man makes more and spends more, he also should save more.

We cannot have luxuries and necessities unless we create them. It is plain that we have to produce more if we want to have more. Larger production is the price of higher standard of living. And the standard of living is flexible—it moves up or down, accordingly as we produce more commodities or not Humanity can't consume more than it produces. The ravens don't bring manna in our generation.

THE FORD PARTY

Will it be known as the Fordatic or the Fordan or the bull-flivver party—that new political organization which the Ford clubs are reported to have scheduled for information some time in December?

Nor is its monicker the only subject of guess nad query. What will the party-to-be stand for? Will those sponsoring it simply make it a vote-for-Ford organizaiton and let it go at that? Or will they commit it to definite political and economic principles and policies? If so, what will they be? Will the party to be let Mr. Ford do its thinking and formulate a political creed for it, or will it undertake to do Mr. Ford's htinking and fashion a creed for him?

The formation of a political party on a one-man basis would be something new in America If the uncertainty as to things political evidenced by Henry, the flivver maker, in recent utterances should extend to the proposed organization, there would be little to keep body and head together. Apparently the Ford movement doesn't know where it is going, but it's on its way.

YOUR HEALTH

By Dr. Clifford C. Robinson

SPINAL CURVATURE IN CHILDREN

In thousands of homes little attention is given by parents to the correct carriage and posture of their children.

Your children need careful supervision from infancy and childhood, through youth and the days of growth and development.

Teach them the health game of "straight back." Do not allow a careless, slouching position at meal time. During the "loafing" period after meals, see that a sitting or reclining posture is one that does not interfere with the health game of spinal control.

If your children are growing rapidly nad seem to lack muscular control of the back and erect carriage from the hips, watch them for the prevention of slump and slouch or bowed-out back.

Proper seating, both in the home portant part in preventing spinal curand at the school, play a most imvature. Proper muscular control is quite necessary to affect the well-balnace carriage and position of erectness, which insure a straight back, and health.

Walk, stand and sit erect, with your head up. Draw in the abdominal muscles in walking and deep breathing Fill your lungs when you breathe, throw back the shoulders. Do these things every day and spinal curvature will not come your way.

BURNETT DENIES HE WAS IN RAID

(By The Associated Press.)

BASTROP, La., Nov. 7.—T. Jeff Burnett, former deputy sheriff who tion with the kidnaping of Watt Danwas charged with murder in connec-iel and T. F. Richard of Mer Rouge last year, testified under oath today for the first time. Burnett is a defendant in one of the misdemeanor cases growing out of the operations of hooded men in the Parish, now on trial before Judge Fred M. Odom, and is charged with assault with a dangerous weapon, resulting from the hlodup of Harry Neelis of Bastrop just a week before Daniel and Richard were abducted.

Burnett's arrest in connection with the Daniel-Richard case resulted when the state authorities learned of his alleged identification as one of the masked men who made captives of the Mer Rouge men. He was charged with murder, and as a defandant could not be called upon to telify at the open hearing here in January. When the grand jury in March filed to return any indicitments the charge was dropped. In the meantime Burnett has been at liberty under $5,000 baill.

Burnett and Harley Rogers were tried today for assault.

Both Rogers and Burnett denied that the participated in the Neelis affair and numerous witnesses were placed on the stand to prove that Burnett was at work at a carbon plant at Spyker throughout the day in question. The trial had been concluded until court recess tomorrow.

FIRE AT NORFOLK

(By The Associated Press.)

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 7—Damage of between $30,000 and $40,000 was caused by a stubborn blaze in the three story building occupied by T. C. Hurst and Sons, ship chandlers, and S. T. Nye, commission merchant, last night. It was about evenly divided between the firms, it was estimated this morning.

Scoop's Colyum

DRAKES BRANCH, November 8.—(Grapevine Wireless)—The poison of Self-Pity: Get angry with yourself put yourself on the back, commend yourself, blame, love, or hate yourself—do anything to yourself, but don't pity yourself.

Pity is a glorious and creditable attribute—when it flows out toward another. Then it is like the mountain brook, sparkling, chattering, leaping, the laughter of the woods, the refreshment of bird and beast, carrying health and joy to all who drink of its cool flood or even gaze upon its happy play.

But pity, when it turns upon self, is like a stagnant pool, covered with hateful scum and concealing ugly, slimy things in its foul ooze.

One who is sorry for himself is already half beaten.

The self-pitying are abused Nobody treats them rightly. People talk about them. Others are promoted over them. They get no proper thanks.

The self-pitiers invite every variety of spiritual microbe to come in and breed.

They are the clouds, mud, and slush of mankind.

They are rarely efficient. No man that hasn't enough healthy egotism to admire himself a bit amounts to much.

Bad as egotism is, it is infinitely better than self-contempt.

The self-pitiers are hard to love, trying to live with, and impossible to please.

They cannot enjoy riches, nor appreciate poverty

When they are well they think they are sick, and when they're sick they think they're worse.

They are gloom-spreaders and heart-depressants.

Self-pity is the most exquisite form of selfishness, the camouflage of importance, the acme of disagreeableness.

Self-pity requires no brains.

If you pity yourself, you are hypnotized b yourself. Come out of it!

No self-pitying troops ever won a battle; no self-pitying clerk ever rose to be general manager; no selfpitying merchant ever made his business thrive; no self-pitying woman ever retained her husband's love; and no self-pitying, human being was ever a help to another human being.

Self-pity is the collapse of all the faculties, it is cowardly surrender in the face of the enemy.

Don't complain! Keep your chin up! The courageous soul, in all conditions, is a lamp of brightness, a tonic draught, to his fellowmen.

In every city there ought to be a public spanker for all self-pitiers.—Allahabad Men, quoted by The Indian Witness.

Fast Train.

"Speaking of railroad service in Georgia," said a traveling salesman of Baltimore, "one day I was waiting for a train in a small town of that state. One hour, two hours, three hours passed, but no train pulled in. I was about to negotiate for a vehicle to drive me to the place I wished to make, when the station agent said:

" 'I wouldn't go to that trouble, sir The train'll be along soon now.'

" 'What makes you think so?'

" 'Well,' he answered, 'I'm pretty certain of it. Here comes the conductor's dog now.' "

'Something Fierce."

CITY IS ROCKED BY SEVERE SHOCK

CALEXICO, Calif., Nov. 7.—An earthquake even more severe than that of last Monday rocked this city at 4 p m. today. The tremor, travelling in a northwest and southeast direction, continued two minutes. Residents abandoned their homes and buildings in the rush for safety.

Cracks opened in buildings by Monday's trembler were widened, and window displays in stores were thrown into disorder. No injuries were reported. A fire which broke out during the quake was extinguished without damage.

DEATH

The World War caused the deaths of 11 million people, according to the final figures gathered by the Academy of Moral and Political Science of France.

While the war was going on, several times that many were killed by the diseases resulting from normal congestion and other unnatural living conditions of "civilization." Flu alone killed more than the war, in less time.

LIGHT

The day of the 100 per cent. efficiency expert seems to be waning, and Americans are learning to live a little as they go along. So comments the Wall Street Journal.

It's about time. The efficiency experts—spurring men on to the last ounce of endurance, and standardizing us like clockwork, caning everything from our food to our thoughts—are destroying humanity at the roots Real civilization is more than a state of slavery.

DIAMONDS

The entire Kimberley diamond fields in South Africa were once owned by Ed Streeter. He mined enough of the precious stones to give him a small fortune. Then he lost confidence and sold the property for $7,500. He thought it was "worked out."

Ed died the other day in London. If he had kept the Kimberley mines he'd have been the world's richest man when he died—worth around a billion dollars. Opportunity knocks often enough. "THE FOOL"

By CHANNING POLLOCK

ILLUSTRATED By R. W. SATTERFIELD

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Clare Jewett, in love with the Reverend Daniel Gilchrist, marries Jerry Goodkind for his money Daniel is dismissed from the fashionable Church of the Nativity in New York because of his radical sermons.

A delegation of strikers comes north to interview the president and directors An agreement which Gilchrist drew up for the miners is shown to Goodkind and Daniel gives the magnates 24 hours in which to sign.

"Overcoat Hall," a refuge for the unemployed, is established by Gilchrist, and apartments with baths for the poor are maintained at a minimum rent. George Goodkind calls at the hall.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"That's what I wanted to ask you. I'm in need of money and my father—"

"Your father understood you well enough to leave you only an income I foolishly turned over some principal to you and you threw away $30,000. You could have had a big salary and you threw that away. You're an utter damned waster—if you're no worse!"

"What do you mean—worse?" Daniel asked with a frown.

"You'll find out what I mean You've had my son's wife down here, haven't you?"

"Once or twice."

"Or three times—or a dozen. He knows."

"I've asked her not to come again.

"And he's asked her—but she comes when she likes. She's in love with you—God knows what women see in your kind of a man. There was Pearl Hennig—"

"Please!" Gilchrist lifted a hand in protest

"Oh, my son told me," continued Goodkind "And I hear—in the neighborhood—that you've worse women than that running in here. Women of the streets!"

"Not many," said Daniel calmly. "They're welcome but they don't come."

"Well, that's your business And if your neighbors get sick of having a resort of this kind in their midst and drive you out, that's your business, too. But my son's wife—"

"Is her business." Daniel interrupted.

"And his," came back Goodkind "Only Jerry's in no condition to settle the matter. He's broken down from worry and overwork and you're partly responsible. That puts it up to me. This is a final warning. If you see Clare again I'll act. That's all. Good night." He picked up his hat.

"Oh, Mr. Goodkind," Daniel woke, as if from a reverie. "How about the money."

"You've had what's coming to you."

"But that's nothing I pay half that for these houses and I've gone in debt fitting them up"

"With baths and tennis courts!"

"People must have baths."

"These dirty immigrants," Goodkind stormed.

"The dirtier they are, the more they need them." Gilchrist smiled "I want to show them how to live—and show other people that you don't have to have a pig-pen to make a profit."

"Are you making a profit?" asked Goodkind scornfully.

"Enormous," answered Gilchrist enthusiastically. "And, to go on, I've got to have $22,000."

"Oh, is that all!" scoffed the visitor. "You want $22,000 to go on making a fool of yourself. Well, you won't get it."

"Not even as an advance?" pleaded Daniel.

"Not a penny."

"Don't drive me to—" Gilchrist paused.

"To what?"

"To ask for an accounting," said Daniel, rather at a loss.

Goodkind stared at him in amazement

"To ask for—what?" he thundered. "Now, listen to me. I've stood all I'm going to stand You've run amuck. You've become dangerous to yourself—and me—and the neighborhood. You're going to stop it, and you're going to stop it now."

"That's your mistake," said Daniel, still tranquil.

"Is it? A year ago you gave me 24 hours to sign a paper, and I did it, and it cost me $2,000,000. Tonight I give you 30 minutes to shut up this place and quit seeing my daughter, and if you don't do it—"

"As I won't," said the unperturbed figure.

"I'll be here inside half an hour with a doctor."

"And then?" Gilchrist didn't understand.

"Then we'll file a petition to have you declared incompetent."

Goodkind banged his stick on the floor for emphasis and started for the door.

"I GUESS BELIEVIN AIN'T NEVER GOIN' TO MAKE ME DANCE." SHE SAID.

"You don't mean that," said Daniel, rather helplessly "You don't mean that because I'm trying to help—"

"Help—whom?" returned Goodkind, wheeling. "Strikers and street women and general riff-raff. And you don't even help them—because nobody can. And if you could, and did, how in the name of God would that help the community. If I find you're still ranting down here in half an hour, I'll say you're crazy and I'll prove it." He moved toward the door "Think it over."

Goodkind reached for the knob as the door was swung open from the other side Goodkind backed a step to admit a tall, neatly dressed, brawny man.

"Excuse me," said the intruder, politely

Goodkind glowered at the man, then his face half lighted with recognition.

"Haven't I seen you somewhere before?" he said reflectively.

The man turned to answer.

"Yes, I think so," he said. "My name's Umanski."

"Umanski?" Goodkind repeated. Then he remembered. "You're not the Pole who came to my house last year with a delegation?"

"Yes," said Umanski, quietly.

"Well, I'll be— Goodkind surveyed him in surprise.

"Mr. Gilchrist tell me stay in New York," the Pole explained. "He's teach me English and find me good job. I'm work eight hours on the docks and six on myself now."

Goodkind said nothing, just reached for the door. Gilchrist, idly filling his pipe at the mantlepiece, broke in.

"Mr. Goodkind!" he said. "Umanski has an invention. If you'll see it—"

"I'll see you in half an hour," came the answer and the door closed.

CHAPTER XVII
Cinderella

UMANSKI'S eyes, minus the hatred they once held, but still steady and serious, had been turned intently on Goodkind as he talked

"What's he doing down here?" asked Umanski with certain anxiety.

"He says I'm crazy and he's going to shut up this place." Daniel smiled as he dropped into a chair with the relaxation of one tired. "Of course, he won't."

"Don't be too sure," said the Pole thoughtfully.

"Nonsense," returned Gilchrist. "I made him angry. And somebody told him a lot of lies."

"Somebody's told a good many people lies," said Umanski. "Yesterday I heard a man say you run this place—to—to—get women."

"Who said that?" Daniel looked up seriously.

"A wop named Malduca."

"Oh, yes," Daniel relaxed again. "I took his daughter in here once, for a week, until he got sober."

"There's a good many like that," pursued the other.

"Not so many."

"Enough to make trouble. Why not carry a pistol?"

"It's generally men with pistols who get shot," said Gilchrist with quiet rejection.

"One of them fellows get you—"

Gilchrist put him off with a gesture as Mary Margaret came into the room.

"I suppose you ain't had any supper," she said with a motherly air. Grubby had followed her in with a tray and the girl, leaning on her crutches, transferred its cargo to the table in front of Daniel.

Umanski drew out a pocketbook and came alongside.

"I brought you some money," he said. "My boss he give me another raise. He gonna makes me boss after a while. So I like to begin to pay back what you lend me."

Gilchrist waved him aside.

"Wait 'till you've sent for your family," he said, making no move to accept the proffered bills.

"I'm gonna send now," said Umanski, smiling. "My boy I'm gonna send school—college, maybe. That pump I make goes fine. I show my boss like you say, because he know about coal mines, and he say if she work she save whole lots of lives and money. She work all right." He dropped the bills on the table and brought forth an English grammar from under his coat. "How about I go upstairs and study?"

"Sure," said Gilchrist. "Go right up to my room and I'll be along after the meeting." Umanski left Margaret Mary bending over him eagerly.

"Your supper's ready," she said.

Gilchrist had caught sight of her feet, strangely adorned.

"What's this we're wearing, golden slippers?" he queried, looking up at her.

"Uh-huh," she assented. "I took them out of the barrel of clothes that pretty lady sent." Gilchrist pulled a chair up beside his.

"Supper with Cinderella," he said with a sweeping invitational gesture.

"Gee, I love that story," the girl said plaintively. "When you tell it to me, you make me believe I'm her." She was a wistful figure, a Cinderella on crutches, a beggar of life but quite content to ride upon wishes.

"If you believe it—you are," said Gilchrist firmly.

She looked at him pensively.

"I guess believin' ain't never goin' to make me dance," she said.

"You can't tell," he said, "—if you believe hard enough."

"That's what you said before, and I've tried, but somehow it don't work."

RHEUMATISM

A Remarkable Home Treatment Given by One Who Had It.

In the year of 1893 I was attacked by Muscular and Subacute Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who are thus afflicted know, for over three years. I tried remedy after remedy, but such relief as I obtained was only temporary. Finally, I found a treatment that cured me completely, and such a pitiful condition has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted, even bedridden, some of them seventy to eighty years old, and the results were the same as in my own case.

I want every sufferer from any form of muscular and subacute (swelling at the joints) rheumatism, to try the great value of my improved "Home Treatment" for its remarkable healing power. Don't send a cent; simply mail your name and address and I will send it free to try. After you have used it and it has proven itself to be that long-looked-for means of getting rid of such forms of rheumatism, you may send the price of it, one dollar, but understand, I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer when relief is thus offered you free? Don't delay. Write today.

ANDREW INDICTS PLANS APPROVED ON CEMETERIES

(By Chicago Tribune Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—A stringing indictment of the plans approved by the United States government for the embellishment of the A. E. F. cemeteries in Europe is contained in a statement issued today by Representative A Piatt Andrew (Republican), Massachusetts, who has just returned from France after a month spent in inspecting the six American cemeteries in that country containing in all 30,000 graves, the one known as "Flanders Fields" in Belgium, where 360 American dead are buried, and one of 450 graves at Brookwood, in England.

Disturbed conditions which have been the subject of indignant comment on the part of those who have visited the graves this summer is transitional, Representative Andrew explains, and are due to the tearing up of the grounds incident to the removal of bodies for shipment to America, reburial of those remaining, and the abandonment of the temporary landscape gardening upon the adoption of permanent plans for the arrangement of the cemeteries which are now being worked out.

These plans however, are denounced by Representative Andrew as falling "disgracefully short of the opportunities and requirements in connection with the trust laid upon this government to guard and cherish its dead.

"Our government, however, not only has not fulfilled this trust; it has not even made plans for doing so," said Representative Andrew. "Provision has been made in each cemetery for grading and planting, for a caretaker's house and offices, for paths and a road and a flagpole, for a front wall and a gate, and there the plans end. When this work is completed, the least will have been done that in decency could be done, to permanently mark and safeguard the graves. And that is all. Even the walls that are planned to separate the cemeteries from the public highways are not to be extended around the other three sides of the enclosure, the boundaries of which are to be marked by a mesh wire fence, like the false facades of country stores, showy where in evidence and substantial elsewhere.

"According to present plans a plain iron water tower will be the only work of art in any of our cemeteries It will be the most conspicuous feature in most of them, and the sole architectural or sculptural symbol of the nation's remembrance of its heroes, or of the purpose for which they gave their lives. In Belleau woods such an iron tower, crowning the hill where the marines turned back the German tide, will dominate the landscape for miles around, a monument unworthy of any country that has passed beyond the crudest beginnings of industrial life. In none of the cemeteries has any provision been made for a place of worship or mediation."

WILD FAREWELL PARTY ON SHIP

(By Chicago Tribune Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Scotch frugality came out strongly in a farewell party on board the promenade deck of the Anchor Line Columbia, which sailed today for Glasgow, when twenty young men and women came to bid goodby to Mary McCann of Tenth avenue. Johnnie Paton played the melodeon and the young people sang and were supposed to dance but the young men lined up against the rail and the girls did the dancing. One of the standees was asked why the men were not doing the honors and replied "Dancing is hard on the boots"

Alexander Kyle, of Clinton, Indiana, and Scotland, who sailed on the Columbia, was buncoed out of $90, as "pier charges" by a stranger who accosted him, inquiring if Kyle had paid his income tax.

On board the ship Kyle remarked that pier charges were rather high Five minutes later a squad of detectives were looking for Alex's $90, but the search was futile.

REPUBLICAN IS NAMED

(By The Associated Press)

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 7—Thaddeus C. Sweet, speaker of the New York assembly for several years, who played an important part in the expulsion of five Socialists members in 1920 was elected to Congress by Republicans of the thirty-second New York district today to succeed the late Luther W. Mott.

Mr. Sweet won by a large plurality over Daniel C. Burke, Democrat, and James A. Manson, Socialist.

The district normally is overwhelmingly Republican.

The New York assembly will continue to have a Republican majority in 1924.

MOSES FINKELSTEIN
GEORGE R GUINDON

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 8.— College age extremes have met at Syracuse University.

Here you find the country's youngest and oldest freshman.

For Moses Finkelstein, 11, and Geo R. Guindon, 60, both are wearing the yearlings' green caps.

Both practically are ostracized from all campus social activities on account of their ages.

Study in Kitchen

So between them has grown an intimate friendship. They are together almost constantly

Guindon is working his way thru school. He is night cook at the hospital of the Good Shepherd.

And amid the pots and pans of the hospital kitchen, he and Moses, younger than some of Guindon's grandchildren, meet every evening to study while the kettle is boiling.

Guindon is registered from Poplar Ridge, N. Y. His sole ambition, he says, is to be of service to younger folks

Boy Genius

"I've always wanted to hely young people," he says. "That's why I entered college.

'In intend to study here two years, work the third, and then return to finish my course.

And his 11-year-old pal, Moses, is the marvel of psychologists.

He possesses the most brilliant intellect in the world in the opinion of Dr. Mark A. May, dean of the department of psychology at the university. Dr. May is recognized as a national authority in his profession.

May Graduate at 13

The boy, Dr. May says, has passed tests with marks surpassing all existing records for persons of any age.

Moses expects to be a college graduate at 13. He hopes to complete his four-year course in three years.

He completed his high school work in two, graduating when he was 10

3 SO. RAILWAYS GRANT INCREASE IN MEN'S WAGES

(By Chicago Tribune Service)

CHICAGO, Nov. 7—Three Southern railways have granted wage increases to 700 men, totaling $38,100 annually, according to information received by the United States Railroad Labor Board here today. The Tennessee Central Railway boosted 192 mechanics 2 cents an hour; the Columbus and Greenville Railroad granted increases of 1 and 2 cents an hour to certain classes of shopmen, and the Norfolk Southern tacked 2 and 3 cents an hour to the pay of 400 shop employes.

MODERATE SHOCKS FELT

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7— Earth shocks of moderate intensity were registered on the Georgetown University seismorgraph tonight, starting at 7:11 and continuing until 7.25 o'clock Father Tondorff, in charge of the instrument, estimated the center of disturbance as at least 1,100 miles distant.

ITALY DESIRES TO BE KNOWN AS A REAL POWER

(By The Associated Press)

ROME, Nov. 6—Sir Eric Drummond, secretary-general of the League of Nations, who was received yesterday by Premier Mussolini, met the representatives of the Itaalian press today and gave them some details of the conference.

"I am pleased at the result of the meeting, ½" he said. The premier assured me that Italy had no prejudice against the League of Nations, and that he himself favored the principles of the League as an association of nations to force the peaceful settlement of disputes, and promote cooperation of technical relations in financial fields.

Mussolini, however, informed the secretary general, that Italy required that her position as one of the great powers and one of the founders of the League and a principal signatory of the treaty of Versailles should be "adequately established." Italy holds that her position is insufficintly recognized, and that if Italian rights were secured Italy would be ready to participate fully, and, further, that the popularity of the League with Italy would doubtless greatly increase.

Sir Eric assured the premier that he recognized Italy's claims as just and equitable, and that he personally was endeavoring to insure the principle of national equality, which was the underlying spirit of the League.

Home-made Remedy Stops Coughs Quickly

The best cough medicine you ever used. A family supply easily and quickly made. Saves about $2.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good

Pour 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, famous for its healing effect on the membranes.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

S. S. ATTENDANCE RECORD

(By The Associated Press)

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 7.—A new world's record for Sunday school class attendance is believed to have been established here yesterday when 17,833 persons crowded Convention Hall for the business men's Bible class of the First Baptist Church of Kansas City. Mayor Frank Cromwell, who had issued a proclamation urging attendance on a plea of civic duty, addressed the assembly.

Was It Wrong for Her to Invite Him In?

SHE was just an innocent school girl, the daughter of a proud family. That she should receive attention from male companions was, in the eyes of her parents, inconceivable.

True, she occasionally mingled with younger boys at a church affair, or on some outing fostered by the school. But never were they allowed to cross the threshold of her home. What ignorance! What hypocrisy! It was only natural that she should pay the penalty. But for what?

He said she smiled at him. Perhaps she did. But how could she help it? There was the broad blue sky looking down—and the golden sunshine pouring over everything and—

"May I walk a little way with you?" he asked. "Of course you may," she answered. And when they reached her house, she told him about her father dying, of her mother being away and how lonesome the old home seemed.

"I don't suppose you wish me to come in?" he asked. "Why yes!" she told him, for she was delighted—flattered—with the thought of his interest in her.

And when they had gone into the house and he had closed the door—suddenly he drew her towards him. "Are you very sure that you want me to remain here with you alone?" he asked.

What was her answer? What would yours have been? Was it wrong for her to invite him in? You'll find the answer in one of the most appealing, pathetic stories ever written—a true tale of innocence, tragedy and crowning love—that is but one of many thrilling romances in the December issue of True Story Magazine. Don't miss it!

"Are you very sure that you want me to remain here with you alone?" he asked. From the story "Where Is My Baby" in the December issue of True Story Magazine.

Written by Its Readers

TRUE STORY Magazine is not only read by its readers—it is written by them. That is why it is so different. That is why it is nationally acclaimed "America's Fastest Growing Magazine." And that is why its circulation has grown from 75,000 (in 1919) to over 1,300,000 copies with the December 1923 issue.

Aside from the appeal of the true life stories which it features in every issue, the one thing undoubtedly responsible for the success of this great magazine, is its frank, fearless policy of portraying life's problems in their true light—in presenting the facts as they really are.

Undaunted and unafraid, True Story Magazine attacks the problems which confront every man and woman. It tells the truth because it should be told—points out the pitfalls as well as the sunny spots on life's highway—interprets the morals of love, hate, chastity and sin so that all may read and understand.

Other Absorbing Stories in the December Issue

"The Man I Couldn't Vamp;" "Married for Love, But—;" "The Painted Girl;" "The Awakening;" "Artists Who Are Models Too;" "The Price of a Girl;" "Laughs from Life;" "Back from Hell;" "True Stories from American History;" "His Yesterdays;" Written in Tears;" "Where Is My Baby?" No Woman Could Please Him, Until;—" "Suppose Your Husband Did This?"

If you are already a reader of True Story Magazine you will be eagerly awaiting the big December issue. But if you have never seen this unusual magazine, don't fail to read the December issue from cover to cover. You will find this issue literally packed with human, throbbing, burning tales of romance, adventure, intrigue, human tragedy and crowning love. You can now get the big December issue on your favorite newsstand. Or, if you prefer, mail coupon below and have magazine sent direct to your home. Don't miss it!

COOLIDGE AND CUMMINS GO OVER RY. LEGISLATION

(By Chicago Tribune Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—President Coolidge late today went over the general railroad situation and proposed railroad legislation with Senator Cummins (Republican), Iowa, chairman of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee.

The president, a spokesman for the White House said, before the conference, had not reached any conclusions as to railroad legislation. Senator Cummins said after the conference that no decisions were reached and that neither he nor the president made any commitments.

Section 14-A, the section of the transportation act directing the Interstate Commerce Commisison to prescribe the percentage representing a fair return on the value of the railroads, was one of the principal subjects discussed at the conference. Retention of this section in the law was urged by representatives of owners of railroad securities in a conference with the president yesterday.

While bills providing for repeal of the rate making section are expected to be introduced when congress convenes, Senator Cummins does not expect as much agitation for elimination of the section as there was during the last session of congress

The attack will be shifted to railroad valuation, the senator declared, and the rate making section will occupy a more important position than in the last session

Repeal of Section 15-A would not reduce freight rates and this fact is coming to be realized more than more, Cummins said.

The railroad labor board was one of the subjects discussed by the senator with the president.

More Tough News For Forger Folk

V. C. ERNST AND HIS FORGERY DETECTOR.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. — V. C. Ernst would rather take up the photographic trail of a check raiser than eat.

Pursuing forgers with a camera has been his chief diversion for several years.

And many a light-fingered gentleman has landed in a cell by dint of Ernst's dark-room strategy.

But it all has begun to pall on Ernst. Got too tame, he admits.

Camera Style

So he has just put on the market a machine which he thinks will make check raising impossible.

The contrivance—Ernst calls it an "identiscope"—is a double camera arrangement. With one click of the shuter, photographs of a bank depositor and his signature are recorded simulataneously.

Installation in banks and business houses, where such records are necessary, will curb forgers' activities considerably

And Ernst looks forward to the day when a standardized identification system will be established throughout the country. This, he believes, not only will save valuable time, but lessen likewise the embarrassment to strangers who want checks cashed.

Already In Use

Ernst declares his invention was born of a desire to prevent crime, rather than detect it.

"It's impossible to stop forgery by any mechanical or chemical means," he says.

"Crooks even can erase the indelible perforations in checks, by an operation simple even for a child.

'But if all bank depositors are photographically identified, as to appearance and signature, duplication and mistakes will be eliminated'

Several of his machines already are in use. They're singing high praise for their efficiency.

ULTIMATUM IS SENT GERMANY

BY HENRY WALES.

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)

PARIS, Nov. 7.—The ambassador's council today sent a note embracing certain characteristics of an ultimatum to Germany, demanding that the reich re-establish a functioning interallied military control by November 10.

Since the occupation of the Ruhr last January General Nolta's commission, with headquarters in Berlin, has been unable to function and the Allies discontinued all attempt to investigate reports of hidden supplies, arms and munitions or rumors of the surrepitious manufacture in isolated factories. Several allied officers attempting to verify these reports were manhandled by German mobs, and the shupos refused to protect them.

The allied note hints and French sources confirm that France might find itself forced to take military measures for protection and self-defense from "reactionary militarist parties who exercise power in a considerable part of Germany."

It is indicated that the little entente may be called in, and it is pointed out that all states bordering Germany are menaced with aggression. France cannot tolerate the illegal dictatorial regime supported by military to be established in the German states

RITCHIE HAS BIG LEAD FOR GOVERNOR

(By The Associated Press)

BALTIMORE, Nov. 7.— With 210 precincts missing out of 1,115 in the state, Governor Albert C. Ritchie this morning had a majority of 41,213 over Attorney General Alexander Armstrong, the governors opponent for re-election The vote was. Ritchie 136,121, Armstrong 94,908

Mr. Ritchie's associates on the state ticket were carried along with him by majorities comparable to his They are W. S. Gordy, Jr., for comptroller. Thomas H Robinson, attorney general and James A. Young, clerk of the court of appeals. The missing precincts are scatered among every one of the 23 counties exclusive of Baltimore City and normally would not alter the result by more than a thousand or two votes either way

Maryland also elected members of the general assembly but up to this afternoon only a few of the counties had reported. The Democrats were claiming, however, that indications pointed to a Democratic majority in both Houses. In Baltimore they claimed five of the six legislative districts, conceding that the fourth district may go Republican. This district contains a large negro vote and an outstanding feature of the Republican rally in the fourth was the probability that three negro candidates on the ticket for the House of Delegates had been elected If elected they will be the first of their race to sit in the Maryland legislature.

Workers Will Decide Course To Be Pursued

(By The Associated Press.)

ESSEN, Nov. 7—Negotiations were begun today between representatives of the Ruhr industrialists and all the workmen's unions to determine whether the workmen will make sacrifices which the employers consider necessary to enable them to accede to the terms of the French authorities for the resumption of economic life, and consequently reparation deliveries. On the outcome of these negotiations which will continue tomorrow depends to a large extent whether the industrial leaders will sign agreements and whether unemployment in the Ruhr, already reaching alarming propositions, will increase or diminish

The crux of the negotiations is question of the working day

It is considered more likely that the industrialists will reach an agreement with the French if they can induce the workmen to accept a ten-hour day instead of an eight-hour day, for factories and above ground work, and an eight and a half hour day for underground work, instead of seven.

If the workers refuse, the industrialists will probably carry out their threat and close down, throwing all their employes on the mercy of unemployment doles On the question of increasing the working day, which was fixed by law after the 1918 revolution, the workers have remained adamant and undoubtedly this will be one of the impossible inseparable obstacles to finding a satisfactory solution of the Ruhr stagnation with the French.

The workers' attitude as reflected by union leaders with whom the Associated Press correspondent asked today, seems to be that they are caught between the upper millstone of the industrialists' pressure and the nether millstone of wholesale unemployment with danger of starvation. From their conversations they appear to be equally acrimonious against the French for maneuvering the employers into a position where it is impossible to compete in the world market and the employers themselves, whom they blame for using threats of unemployment to get the men to work longer hours.

Already grim starvation is staring several hundred thousand workmen in the face with the cold winter creeping up.

NEW WINTER WHEAT RESISTANT OF BUNT AND SMUT ANNOUNCED

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Development of a new variety of winter wheat which is resistant to bunt or smut is announced by the Department of Agriculture. It has been named "Ridit" because it is expected to rid the wheat fields of smut. The variety was developed by Dr. E. F. Gaines of the Washington agricultural experiment station at Pullman, Wash., in cooperation with the Department of Agriculture. It was bred through crossing Turkey and Florence varieties, the latter a smut resisting spring wheat from Australia. Ridit has been found better adapted for the more humid regions than for semiarid regions. A few hundred farmers in eastern Washington planted Ridit this fall to give it a more complete trial than it has had in experiments.

KENDRICKS ELECTED MAYOR

(By The Associated Press.)

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 7.—W. Freeland Kendrick, Republican mayoralty candidate was elected yesterday by overwhelming pluralities. With practically complete returns from 47 of the 48 wards in the city tabulated early today the indications were that Kendricks plurality over A Raymond Raff, his Democratic opponent would exceed 250,000 one of the largest ever given a candidate for mayor in Philadelphia. The vote in these 47 wards with six divisions missing was: Kendrick 283,689 and Raff 35,373

Harding Forced Resignation Of Charles Forbes

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—President Harding forced the resignation of Charles R. Forbes as director of the Veterans' Bureau for insubordination in connection with the sale of government property at Perryville, Maryland, the Senate veterans committee was told today by Brigadier General Charles E. Sawyer, personal friend and physician of the late president.

Dr. Sawyer explained that after Mr. Harding had ordered the movement of goods from Perryville to stop, a number of cars had been allowed to go forward to the purchaser, the Thompson and Kelly Company, Inc, of Boston. When this came to the attention of the president, who previously had told Dr. Sawyer the sale was " a waste and should not be tolerated," Forbes was asked to resign.

Within a few days after the sale was stopped in the latter part of last January, Forbes sailed for Europe.

His friends said at the time that his health had failed, but reports persisted that his resignation then was in the hands of President Harding. Forbes returned to this country the following month and quit the Bureau last March 1.

The clearing up of the mystery of the resignation of Forbes was only one of the developments today before the investigating committee. Charges presented included these:

That the list of supplies to be sold at Perryville was "padded" in the Veterans' Bureau after it had been cleared through the budget bureau, as containing no articles needed by other government agencies.

That there were indications "of favoritism, if not actual collusion and connivance" in the awarding of a contract for approximately $71,000 worth of floor wax to the continental corporation of Watzka, Illinois.

That some officers of the bureau believed the late Charles F. Cramer, formerly general counsel of the bureau, had used contracts entered into by the bureau to obtain endorsements to his name for assistant Secretary of War.

That certain employes of the bureau had used every means to hinder the work of the special investigators named by the Senate committee to inquire into all of the affairs of the bureau.

Responding to a subpoena to tell the committee what he knew of the Perryville sale, Dr. Sawyer stated he would prefer to read a statement which he had prepared. Standing at the witness table so as to have advantage of better light, he read in a loud and clear tone, with emphasis here and there on sentences or phrases.

His statement was that his attention as co-ordinator for the general hospitalization board first was called to the Perryville sale November 26, 1922 This was twelve days after the contract with Thompson and Kelly had been signed and ten days after cars loaded with surplus supplies had begun to move from Perryville. Surgeon General Cummings came to his office, he said, and informed him that supplies were being sold regardless of public health service needs. Dr. Sawyer and Dr. Cummings went to the Veterans' Bureau immediately and asked for a conference with Forbes.

With the closing of the session today, the hearings went over until Monday. Forbes has been invited by the committee to appear at that time or on Tuesday if he desires but the time of his appearance will depend upon his physical condition. The former director was reported to have suffered another heart attack last night and he was absent today from the hearings for the first time in two weeks.

Elias H. Mortimer, of Philadelphia, whose story of alleged loans of large sums to Forbes and of "drinking parties" during a trip to the Pacific coast has been one of the sensations of the hearing, may be recalled for cross examination by counsel for Forbes. Mortimer represented a contracting firm which was seeking hospital contracts from the bureau.

COALITION RANKS MUCH DISATISFIED

BY WALTER WILGUS.

(By Chicago Tribune Service)

MANILA, Nov. 7.—Dissatisfaction in the ranks of the coalitionists with the leadership of Manuel Quezon is leading to daily caucuses with Mr. Quezon bending every effort to preserve the coalition as a split would bring in a Democratic majority in the next legislature.

Many coalitionists consider that Mr. Quezon has been out-generalled by Governor General Wood since the cabinet resignations, as Governor Woods' policy is to appoint Democrats wherever possible, depriving the coalition of small fry jobs.

Governor Wood's position is stronger than ever as he will get last year's budget automatically which corresponds practically with his requests for this year. He also controls most of the appointive positions, hence if the coalition is to lose their position in the legislature they will be left holding the bag.

NORWAY'S LARGEST LIGHTHOUSE NOW WARNS SHIPS OF DANGER

CHRISTIANA, Nov. 7.— The largest lighthouse hitherto erected along the Norwegian coast was used for the first time October 1.

The lighthouse, which is of concrete and is 150 feet high, has been built on Sletringoen near Titran on the west coast. The main lantern has an intensity of 465,000 normal candle power and flashes two beams in quick succession every fifteen seconds. A supplementary light illuminates some dangerous rocks in the vicinity. In foggy weather a powerful siren will give the necessary warnings.

What's Going on in the World

WEEK'S CHIEF EVENTS BRIEFLY TOLD

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Discouraged by French insistence on conditions which would make it waste of time, to discuss Germany's ability to pay war damages, the Washington government is reported about ready to give up the idea of taking part in such a talk.

David Lloyd George, who, more than anybody, was responsible for getting the United States interested in the subject again, admits it would be ridiculous to hold a conference if France is going to stick out for "a neverending debt."

The French don't seem to care. Their press says Premier Poincare consented to confer "only to show his good will."

German Ruin Sought

At the world's capitals it is now accepted as a definite fact that France cares little for reparations in comparison with breaking Germany into a group of weak states, partly for the sake of French military security and partly with a view to grabbing the old German trade. However, this does not suit the other nations. England has already told France she cannot "with equanimity" see Germany broken up.

* * *

Civil War Ahead

Germany, rent by the conflicting activities of republicans, monarchists, separationists and reds, only holds together, seemingly miraculously, from day to day.

The royalists now talk of putting Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria on the throne, as ruler of all Germany, with Munich as capital instead of Berlin, and Bavaria instead of Prussia as the most important state. In opposition to this scheme, it's reported the Berlin republican government plans to bring the ex-kaiser's son, the crown prince, back from Holland to serve as its figure head.

* * *

New Republic Launched

The national assembly at Angora has voted to make Turkey a republic, with Kemal Pasha as first president. His ambition is to consolidate the whole Mohammedan world.

* * *

Wets And Drys

Instead of settling matters by agreeing to let American dry officers go beyond the three-mile limit in their warfare against liquor smugglers, England has started a fresh row.

The drys wanted to extend the limit from three to 12 miles.

England says: "Extend it as far as you like." But on this condition—

"English ships may bring liquor into American ports under seal."

This means a new treaty which the Senate will be asked to ratify. It will be fought by the Anti-Saloon League, by sticklers for the Constitution and by American shipowners.

The league says such a system would aid, not hamper, smugglers. The constitutionalists say it would violate the Eighteenth Amendment. The shipowners say it would permit drinking on English liners both ways across the ocean, and then nobody would take American ships.

Veterans' Bureau Inquiry

The senatorial committee engaged in investigating the management of the Veterans' Bureau under Colonel C. L. Forbes continues to unearth stories, not only of inefficiency, but according to some witnesses, of wholesale graft. The committee, however, is yet to hear Forbes' version.

Will Check Growth of Branch Banking

Action By Reserve Board Is to Place State Banks On Plane of Competition With National Institutions.

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.— The federal reserve board has adopted a rule to check the growth of branch banking by state banks in the federal reserve system.

Recommended by a committee of its members as a measure primarily to place state banks on a plane of competition with national banks. The board after February 1, 1924 will require as a condition of membership in the reserve district that a national bank agree to establish no branches without the boards permission and relinquish any branches outside the city in which the parent bank is located.

In recommending that these two principles governing membership of state banks be rigidly enforced, the committee held this to be vital if they were not to be permitted to pursue an advantage over national banks which might 'ultimately result in their extinction." The federal laws have been construed by two United States attorneys generals, it was pointed out, as forbidding national banks establishing branches doing a general banking business.

The arguments presented by proponents of branch banking, however, during the boards long study of the question were supported in a statement by Vice Governor Platt as a minority reportd of the committee. He declared such an economic development as the growth of branch banking should not be "arbitrarily repressed" by a governmental body but rather "studied and guided with the purpose of determining whether it does not represent a real advance in American banking."

BLAINE HAGEN HELD FOR DEATH OF THOS. BISHOP

(By The Associated Press)

BRISTOL, Va., Nov. 7—Blain Hagan, 25, member of a wealthy southwest Virginia family, was held here in jail tonight on a charge of first degress murder preferred in connection with the death late today of Thomas Bishop, 35, road workman, who authorities say was run down and killed by Hagan's automobile.

Bishop was killed in the road fronting his home on the Bluff City pike about two miles from Bristol. Witnesses told the police that Hagan was speeding. Bishop's neck was broken and his skull fractured. His body was dragged about 50 feet by the car which crashed through a fence at the side of the road, plunged over an embankment and stopped against a tree. Hagan will be given a hearing tomorrow.

This is the fourth serious automobile accident Hagan has had in Bristol. He struck and seriously injured a man on Fifth street here about a year ago. He is a member of a wealthy and prominent family of Southwest Virginia.

FRIENDS NOTICED IMPROVEMENT

Wonderful Results from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Beloit, Wis.—"My female trouble was brought on by overwork. I had worked in stores and had to do heavier work than my strength could stand, and had to be on my feet most of the time. Finally I had to give up this work entirely and stay at home. Doctor's medicine did not give me much relief, and my mother wanted me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took a couple of bottles of it and thought it did not help me as much as it should, so I gave it up to try something else. Nothing I took helped me much, so I finally decided to give the Vegetable Compound another trial and to take enough of it to make sure it would help me. I have taken it over a year now and it has brought wonderful results. I have gained from 93 to 110 pounds and am keeping house now. My friends all notice the change in my health. I will be glad to answer all letters that women write to me about the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. W. G. MONSON, 1515 Park Ave., Beloit, Wis.

COURSE OF GREAT BRITAIN UNKNOWN

BY JOHN STEELE.

(By Chicago Tribune service)

LONDON, Nov. 7—Lord Crewe's conversation with Premier Poincare on the alleged intention of former Crown Prince Frederick William to return to Germany is not necessarily an indication that Great Britain has made up its mind as to what course it will pursue, but was rather in the nature of a consultation on the situation caused by the new move.

The former crown prince is not mentioned in the treaty of Versailles and legally there is no reason why he could not return to his native land if the government of Germany is willing.

It is learned from German sources that one of the reasons why the German government is not unwilling for his return is that it is alarmed by the growing strength of the monarchist movement in favor of the Wittelsbach dynasty and the authorities hope that the presence of a Hohenzollern in Germany might split this feeling and consequently weaken the Monarchist movement.

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND THE FLU

First Step in Treatment Is Calotabs, the Purified and Refined Calomel Tablets That Are Nausealess Safe and Sure.

Doctors have found by experience that no medicine for colds, coughs, sore throat and influenza ca nbe depended upon for full effectiveness until the liver is made thoroughly active. That is why the first step in the treatment is the nausealess calomel tablets called Calotabs, which are free from the sickening and weakening effects of the old style calomel. Doctors also point out the fact that an active liver may go a long way towards preventing influenza and colds and is one of the most important factors in enabling the patient to successfully withstand an attack and ward off pneumonia.

One or two Calotabs at bed time, with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with your eating, pleasure or work. Next morning your cold has vanished, your liver is active, your system is purified, and you are feeling fine, with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Genuine Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price thirty five cents for the large, family-package; ten cents for the small, vest-pocket size.—adv.

WASHING DISHES

When preparing to wash dishes remember that all egg, milk and flour dishes should soak in cold water while sugar and fat dishes should be soaked in hot water. For very greasy dishes use hot water and soda.

New Penetration Treatment For Pyorrhoea Cases

Dentists say that a great majority of people either have pyorrhoea (Riggs Disease) or pyorroeal tendencies or bleeding gums, sensitive or loose teeth, pus pockets and bad odors. Pyorrhoea not only affects the gum and teeth, but also your general health, as the pus, which is very poisonous, is absorbed into the system causing serious stomach troubles the results of which are sometimes fatal.

You can now treat pyorrhoea at home and get relief with formula known as Creosene, the new discovery that, through penetration, carries a powerful but harmless germicidal, of which cresote (the greatest germ-destroying, tissue-preserving agency known and used by dentists for years is the base, right to the roots of the teeth, killing the pyorrhoea germs making the gums healthy, tightening up and preserving the teeth, healing pus pockets, relieving pain and destroying odors caused by decayed or abscessed teeth.

Creosene is pleasant to use, and should be used by every one who wears a plate, as it keeps the gum firm and healthy and free from pain $1.00 at your druggist and your money back if it fails. Creosene Co., Atlanta, Ga.—adv.

Schwab Made Loans to Prevent Publicity

Let Mrs. Hayes Have Money Over 20-Year Period, He Testifies at Hearing.

(By The Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.— It was to prevent publicity "on matters on which the public is apt to put the wrong construction" that Charles M. Schwab lent money over a period of 20 years to Mrs. Myrtle B. Hayes, he testified yesterday at a hearing held to determine his liability for payment of notes to which Mrs. Hayes is charged with forging his name.

Revelations of the loans came several months ago when a hotel project at Brookline, Mass., in which Mrs. Hayes was interested, suddenly collapsed because Mr. Schwab would not honor the notes under contention. The hearing was part of the legal action William G. Tobey, builder of the hotel, instigated to recover money he lost when the notes were not paid.

In 1902 Mr. Schwab said, he lent Mrs. Hayes, then Miss Myrtle Bowman, $2,000 and subsequently he made other loans to her under threats of exposure of the first loan.

"I was told that unles I aided her with further money," he said, "there would be publicity and comment that probably would be unfavorable. No man likes publicity on matters on which the public is apt to put the wrong construction.

"Nearly all my misfortunes in life have come from acts of kindness to others," he added.

RAIN PREVENTS TIGERS FROM WORKING OUT

HAMPDEN-SIDNEY, Va., Nov. 7.—Continued rains Tuesday prevented the Tigers getting outdoors for training. Coach Bernier plans to put his youngsters through an exceptionally hard week, weather conditions permitting.

The Tigers meet Emory & Henry on Saturday. Last season the Garnet and Gray defeated the Wasps in the only game won by the locals; the Tigers scored two touchdowns.

Both the Tigers and the Wasps have played their hadest games, and from now on victories should be in store for them. Hampden-Sidney will doubtless be without several regulars, but play on Death Valley will make considerable difference.

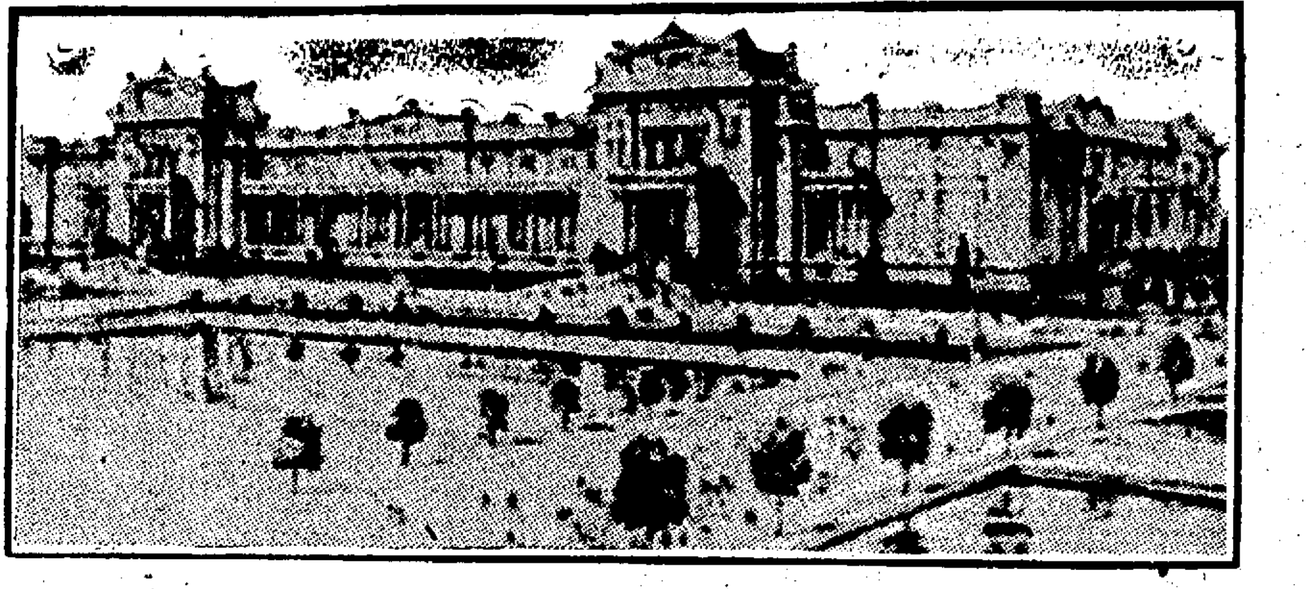
The work of the line against William-Mary last Saturday was unfavorable compared to the showing that this division of the eleven made against the heavier Maroons the preceding Saturday. It is very probable that Coach Bernier will make a big shift somewhere in his machine this week. What is it, remains to be seen. The first afternoon that the Tigers can get on the field will present new problems. A shift by the latter part of the week should make an improvement in the aggregation that faces Emory & Henry on Saturday.

TRADE VEACH

In all probability Bobby Veach will be traded by Detroit during the winter. Veach doesn't seem to fit in with Cobb's policy, yet is too good trading material to be allowed to sit on the bench.

Despite the fact that Valentino has taken up tennis the sports promises to be as popular as ever.

GORGEOUS BUILDINGS WILL FEATURE EXHIBIT



ARCHITECT'S SKETCH OF THE CANADIAN BUILDING AT THE 1924 BRITISH EMPIRE EXHIBIT.

By MILTON BRONNER

LONDON, Nov. 8.— Although the British are the most highly taxed people in the world and have suffered as much as any from after-war business depression, they are going full speed ahead with plans for the first big exposition since long before the war.

It will practically be a world's fair. Every clime and every continent, every color and every religion will be represented because all the dominions colonies and crown dependencies which make up the gigantic British Empire will have buildings and exhibits.

It has advanced far beyond a mere plan. At Wembley, some miles north of London, I found many buildings almost complete. This was especially true of the immense machinery and industrial arts buildings. They are claimed to be two of the biggest concrete and steel structures in the world.

The Canadian building will be one of the finest on the grounds. It will be of new Greek style of architecture and Canadians are on the job to see that it is done properly. The structure will house a complete exhibit of the natural and industrial resources of Canada.

I saw the steel skeleton of what is destined to be a dream of oriental beauty—the splendid gold and white building to be put up by India. It will be three acres in extent and the main feature will be two dazzling white minarets, each 110 feet high. Its architecture will combine some of the features of the two most famous gems of India—the Taj Mahal of Agra and the Jama Masjid of Delhi.

The other most striking piece of native architecture will be the building that will house the exhibits made by Burma. It will occupy about two acres. The general design will be purely Burmese. A large part of the external decoration is being made in Burma and sent here. The grounds also will be laid out in Burmese style.

Zev To Take Part In Races Today

(By The Associated Press)

PIMLICO RACE TRACK, Nov. 8.—Old Hill Top patrons will be given an opportunity this afternoon to see Zev, Harry F. Sinclair's crack 3-year-old, in action. Zev is entered in the Pimlico serial number 2, $4,000 added, at a mile and one furlong.

Opposed to Zev are Tryster Hepahtor General Thatcher and Home Stretch.

The race is a weight for age affair. Zev, Home Stretch and General Thatcher will carry 120 pounds, the others 126.

Zev is expected to be a heavy favorite, especially as the track is muddy.

Experts says it takes nerve to be a golf player. Even takes nerve to dress like one.

Coming Game With Carolina Is Near

LEXINGTON, Va., Nov. 7.—A feeling of intense excitement, decidedly tempered by anxiety, pervades the V. M. I. barracks as the day of the Carolina game draws near. The cadets are rejoicing because the authorities have granted permission for the corps to attend the Richmond classic. A special train will leave Lixington at 10 o'clock Friday night, and will bring the corps, faculty, team and townspeople back from Richmond, 10 o'clock Sunday morning being the time of departure.

No one at V. M. I. is over-confident as to the outcome of the game. Four regulars were forced to view the Emory and Henry game from the sidelines, and it is impossible to determine at this time whether White, Ryder, Ferguson, and Denton will be in the line-up against the Tarheels. All four players are nursing injuries sustained in the Virginia and N. C. State games, and so far have been unable to take part in only the lightest kind of signal practice.

The coaches are working overtime on Frisky Harmeling and Charlie Foster, the outstanding stars of the Emory and Henry game, in order that this pair may fit easily into the backfield in case Wyndy White and Ed Ryder are not available. In the line, it is hoped that Hobby Wilson and Bo Clement will continue to fill acceptably the holes left by the absence of Gene Ferguson and Smilye Denton, at center and tackle.

Coaches Blandy Clarkson and Bill Raftery have an additional cause for worry in the report submitted by Jimmy Leech, who scouted the Carolina-South Carolina game Saturday. Leech says that the Fetzer charges have developed a powerful drive, and look nothing like the team that was defeated by Maryland. Carolina rolled up a total of twenty first downs to none for the fighting Gamecocks. It is true that the Flying Squadron made twenty-two earned first downs to two from penalties garnered by Emory and Henry, but the cadets in winning by a 46 to 0 score did not face an opponent of the caliber met by Carolina.

The Flying Squadron is more than anxious to add Carolina's scalp to the season's collection, but the feeling in Lexington is that the cadets have an unenviable task, with the odds decidedly favoring the Tarheels.

While the Vasrity is going through a hard week of practice for the all-importan tbattle in Richmond, the Freshmen, under Coaches Dickson and Heflin, are preparing for their invasion of Blacksburg, where they will meet the V. P. I. youngsters. The "Rats" by virture of their 25 to 6 win over S. M. A. Saturday have four victories and no defeats to their credit. The Young Gobblers have also been stepping out this season, however, and the struggle between the two yearling aggregations will doubtless be well worth seeing.

This Little World

By GEORGE BRITT

CHICAGO, Nov. .—Styles in chorus girls this fall run to youth and plumpness.

Not bulkiness. But a fulness of figure different from the willowy types of years ago. Whether that ideal prevails elsewhere is a matter for research, but it is accepted by a leading producer here.

* * *

Half a dozen members of his chorus attend high school by day, and at night they are brought to work by vigilant and proud mothers.

* * *

Cities are the places where people do not grow old. There, persons of fifty, sixty or beyond, do not resign themselves to do without the pastimes of youth. Gray hairs are as likely to be found in a ballroom as at the theater, at parties past midnight as well as sitting beside the fire at home. It would be scandalous in a village but—

* * *

When persons may walk three blocks across the Loop at noon just as quickly as they could ride a taxi through the congested traffic, why won't they walk? Perhaps walking has become a lost art. Certainly it is true that the busines man rides the three blocks, and his wife on a shopping trip takes a cab for the few blocks between stores.

The taxicab business reflects the tendency by the trouble the companies have in keeping their drivers from concentrating too thickly downtown. The short-haul trade is profitable, and they want to hang around and get lots of it. Walking would at least save the cab companies that difficulty.

The government shows to olurid a staste in posters, is the complaint of the attorney for a famous hotel here, closed by injunction for violating the prohibition act. The posters objected to were printed in red and explained that the building would be unoccupied for one year. Too large, too flaring, too giddy and a bad example were among the complaints entered against them before the judge. The posters are still there.

* * *

Listen to motorists, and one may believe half the suburban towns around Chicago are paving their streets by extortionate fines. The favorite country town setting for such stories is Justice Park. The name, according to drivers, should not refer to the quality of penalties exacted but justice of the peace, whose authority rests heavy upon innocent and guilty alike.

PLAYER TRIED FOR INSTRUCTING BOYS TO SWIM

(By The Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, Nov. 7. — Teaching swimming to a boys Y. M. C. A. class to earn money for University expenses today was made the bass of a charge of professionalsm against one of the star tackles of the Western conference.

The protest is made against Ed C. Gerber, tackle on the University of Wisconsin eleven, on the eve of the crucial Wisconsin-Illinois game Saturday. The protest, if allowed, means that he will be barred from all college athletics on the ground that he was a paid coach.

The situation recalls a similar incident a year ago when, as the Badgers prepared to meet Illinois, a protest came from Illinois quarters which disqualified Murray, another star Wisconsin tackle. This protest brought out the wrath of "Big John" Richards, then Wisconsin coach, and almost resulted in a severance of athletic relations between the two universities.

Says Scientific Punt Blocking Is Now the Word

By WALTE RCAMP.

(Copyright, 1923, by The Bee)

NEW YORK, Nov. 7—Look out, from now on, for the scientific punt blocker.

It has not yet dawned upon the general public that there are certain tacticians who have made a study of blocking punts, and that the results of this study are likely to be of great importance. Indeed, the new departure already is reaping its reward.

The punter who has been in the habit of feeling fairly safe with his protection, suddenly finds a loose man coming thru somewhere, and right down his alley. There is the terrible sound of the ball striking a man and then a mad scramble after it. with more than an even chance that the side which has blocked the punt gets a touchdown.

Stanford lost her game to Southern California out on the Pacific Coast owing to Southern California's ability to block punts, and there have been a number of like casualties.

Another thing which may be looked for in the late season games is earlier loosening up by the big teams on open play There seems no valid reason for holding off so long with the attack that is usually needed to win. One thing the coaches will have to do, tho, if they are to get their fair reward for their play, is to put something on the hands of the backfield men that will enable them to hold the ball better. Already several important games have been turned by disastrous fumbling. West Point began her game against Yale with some bad handling of the ball, and the Cadets are not the only offenders

There have been some strange gridiron finishes this season, but perhaps one of the most remarkable occurred in Tucson, Arizona, when the University of Arizona met St. Mary's of Oakland Arizona scored twenty points to St. Mary's two in the first three quarters Then St. Mary's started an aerial attack which resulted in three touchdowns and a 22 to 20 victory.

Gonzaga with her remarkable forward passer, Houston Stockton, played havoc with Montana when the two met, making some twenty passes, 12 o fwhich were successful, for a gain of 161 yards. It will be remembered that this is the team that gave West Virginia such a tough time at San Diego last Christmas day. Already they have beaten Washington State 27 to 14. Notre Dame adherents will be glad to know that their old player, Dorais, is Gonzaga's coach.

Brennan Suspended After Being Floored

Boxing Commission Alleges He Is Unfit For Fights—Referee Warned Him He Was Not Trying.

(By The Associated Press.)

OMAHA, Nov. 8 — Bill Brennan, New York heavyweight, not only was knocked out by Billy Miske of St. Paul in the fourth round of their scheduled ten round fight here last night but early today was suspended by the Nebraska State Boxing Commission. Harry Summers, of Los Angeles, welterweight, who was knocked out by Morrie Schlaiffer, of Omaha, likewise was suspended for not trying.

Purses of both the fighters, said to be in excess of $2,350, are being held up by the commission and probably will be given to charity, state boxing commissioner Wm. Kavian said.

Leo. P. Flynn, manager of the New York boxer, was blamed for the poor showing of Brennan, who, according to the commission, was in poor condition.

In the first round fans expressed disapproval. Miske started the fight and Brenan, after taking several hard smashes to the head and body, returned the St. Paul fighter's blows. After the second round the referee went to Brennan's corner and warned him that he was not trying. In the third round Brennan started the attack but was soon in a clinch with Miske, who was fighting hard Brennan was on the floor when the bell rang, being saved from a knockout.

At the opening at the fourt hround, Brenan returned groggy an Miske struck but two blows, sending him to the canvass for the count.

When he regained consciousness Brennan acused the referee of holding his hand while Miske struck him.

Summers was knocked out in less than half a minute after the fight started. Schlaiffer batted the Californian around the ring in the few short seconds and was not harmed by Summers.

It was Brennan's first fight since he went to the hospital after an engagement with Luis Firpo. It also was the first bout for Miske after a sickness of several months

Brennan weighed 206 and Miske 189.

Young Stribling Seeks To Become Professional Now

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.— Regulations of the New York Boxing Commission are to be broken it was understood today, to allow Young Stribling, the Georgia high school fighter, to engage in bonts with its jurisdicto engage in bouts with its jurisdicbut because of Stribling's pugilistic precocity and exception is to be made. He is 18.

Young Stribling made formal application for a license to the commission yesterday but action is not expected for several days. In addition to undergoing a physical examination he probably will be asked to meet some one in a six round contest to establish his reputation here.

Stribling has been a figure in the fisticuff world since he battled Mike McTigue to a standstill recently in Georgia. If a complete license is granted him he probably will meet either Johnny Wilson of Boston, former world's middleweight champion, McTigue or Gene Tunney, American light heavyweight champion, at Madison Square Garden, December 10.

Gridiron Gossip

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—A most interesting development in the prevailing systems of football attack among the various elevens of the country thus far this season is the centering of emphasis upon running plays at the expense of forward passing. All elevens, of course, are equipped with the aerial offense and employ it constantly with more or less proficiency but as one studies the play of the more important outfits conviction grows that there has been a very definite reaction toward hard-hitting slants protected by compact interference, by delayed drives on center and by outbacks.

As an example, Notre Dame, the leading exponent of the forward pass came to Princeton and throughout the game threw the ball not more than four or five times, if memory serves. Instead of throwing the ball the South Bend collegians launched a running attack that contained not a single new feature.

It succeeded because of the deft shifting in the backfield, the perfect co-ordination of line and backs and the mechanical precision of the interference. Coaches have begun to realize the truth of Frank Hinkey's saying that there is no need of worrying about elusive plays so long as the backs can be thrown forward behind compact and hard hitting interference—the sort of interference that sweeps the field of tacklers. Notre Dame is soaring this season on the basis of line attack—of course she has a formidable forward passing offense that appears from time to time —and such teams as Illinois, Chicago, Wisconsin, Yale, Cornell, Syracause, Penn, and other teams have undoubtedly spent much more time upon their running game than upon forward passing.

In other words instead of being carried forward to that status where it was predicted the overhead game would be carried to a point where legislation would be needed to protect the defense against it, forward passing this season has largely been employed as a threat, as a short-pass, small-gain play or as a desperate fourth period expedient to overcome a lead.

True it is that a forward pass attack when well launched, is difficult to check, but more and more as the defense has studied methods of meeting the overhead game it is being checked and the danger of interception is always a very grave element in the play. Two of the Army's passes intercepted by Yale, led to touchdowns against the Cadets Even at its best the element of hazard is existant and no coach so confident in this branch of attack who does not cease to breath from the time this team throws the ball until the gain is made or the pass incompleted.

As games are working out, it is clear that the most effective form of forward pass and the one safest to throw is the flat pass thrown to a man running wide. It is a very difficult play against which to defend and the penalty when the throw goes wrong is not so great, as a rule, as in the long downfield heave or the toss over center.

And more and more the fashion, which had its culmination last year of putting on the forward pass when the attacking team is inside its own thirty-five yard line, is losing vogue. The disastrous results of interception have grown to a percentage that gives pause even to our most radical strategists.

De Hart Worried Over Contest Sat.

LEXINGTON, Va., Nov 7—Driving his charges until long after dark this afternoon Coach De Hart indicated that he was worried over Saturday's contest with West Virginia, and furthermore that some very radical changes in tactics are necessary if the Fighting Generals hope to make any sort of a showing against the Mountaineers. The tutor of the Blue and White returned early this morning from seeing West Virginia in action against Rutgers and his trip with its attendant discloses has in no way served to remove his pessimism.

The Gold and Blue without doubt will send the strongest team against the locals Saturday that an eleven from this institution has faced in many seasons With the time intervening extremely brief, the coaches must work their protegees overtime and tack an extra drills to the regular program.

The frosh and Varsity engaged in a lengthy scrimmage this afternoon, but many of the first string men were so battered following the Virginia tilt, the session lacked the usual fight and enthusiasm. Working against big odds De Hart will endeavor to build some sort of a defense that will offer stubborn resistance to the heavy backfield of the Morgantown outfit With Eckberg, Simons, Barnum, and Nardacci advancing the oval for the Spears eleven, and such scintillants as George Hill, Armin Mahrt, Doc Bruder, "Bo" McMillan, Doug Bowers, and a host of others in reserve, the task of the locals to halt their onrush is a big one.

The biggest handicap of the White and Blue is its youth and inexperience. It is a truism that football players are not developed over night Most of the West Virginia team are players of long experience, while the present W. and L. outfit is the youngest in the history of the school. The entire line averages little more than nineteen years, while the backfield, slightly older, does not bring the team average up to twenty-one years. In actual playing experience as well as age, the locals are decidedly inferior to W. V. U. Of the eleven men who take the field against West Virginia Saturday, five will be playing their first season of Varsity football

It is interesting to note that the Generals have not been scored on in the last three games which makes the defense look strong on paper. In reality, the Blue and White has had its back to the wall on many occasions, and had been forced continually to fight defensively within its own 20-yard line. To date, the present season is much like last season The first half the Generals came through with a clean slate; the second half they started on the down grade, losing three games in succession Whether or not the present schedule will witnes sa repetition remains to be seen, but the locals seem due to meet a tarta in Doc Spears' eleven, Saturday, that may mean disaster.

De Hart is sure of but one thing as the West Virginia contest nears —if hard work and consistent effort is worth anything to a team, the Fighting Generals should give the Mountaineers a hard tussle this weekend. The eleven is undergoing a strenuous week's preparation and will be out to fight the New Dominion warriors to a finish.

CHECKS FOR WORLD'S SERIES MONEY MAILED

(By The Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, Nov 7.—Checks amounting to $92,195.74 of the world's series money tonght were mailed by Commissioner Landis to the members of the clubs which finished second and third in the national and American Leagues.

The Detroit and Cincinnati clubs which finshed in second place each received $27,659.73. Of this amount, each Cincinnati player will get $1,078 and members of the Tigers $1,024.40 each.

The third place clubs each will divide $18,439. Of this amount each Pittsburgh player will receive $735.57 and each Cleveland player $635.84.

Chicago coach says he's against paid footballers . But apparently he has no objections to paid coaches.

New Style Play Is Expected From Crimson Saturday

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.— A style of play entirely new to Harvard-Princeton football is expected from the Crimson Saturday afternoon in the opening contest of the annual big three series at Palmer Memorial stadium.

In last Saturday's play against Tufts and in this week's practice sessions two distinct departures from the tactical scheme long in vogue at Cambridge have been noted by football students. These have led to much speculation as to the extent of changes in Harvard's system of football play.

The selection of Joe McGlone, a st. broken field runner and triple threat man, as first string quarter back and the fact that Harvard has been stressing practice in direct passing, are accepted by many as positive proof of a wholesale reorganization of Harvard football. And, as the Princeton game is the one toward, which Harvard has been pointing all season, gridiron followers believe the Tigers will encounter the full force of Harvard's new offensive weapons

This prospect has served to increase interest in the big three series Heretofore conservative football, the employment of the kicking game and a disposition to "wait for the breaks" has featured the series

Of the three teams, Harvard has been the most conservative. The Crimson's theory has been that ten players directed by a quarter back, who refrained from fatiguing mind and body by attempting to carry the ball and make interference were better than eleven players whose quarter back took more active part in the play.

It has been Harvard's theory also that deception was of greater value than speed. And in the changes already shown Harvard appears to have forsaken those theories for it has added the quarter back to the carrying and interfering forces and in substituting direct for delayed passing it sacrifices deception for speed

Princeton enthusiasts admits doubts as to the Tigers ability to meet and check the reorganized Harvard attack but assert the Tiger will show something equally new and difficult in Saturday's game.

Palmer Memorial Stadium will prove the big magnet of the coming week-end in the New York-NewJersey football sector, but thousands of footballs greatest host will to the Polor Grounds to see the Great Cornell eleven against Columbia team.

ELEVEN BOUTS PLANNED

(By The Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Eleven bouts in ten weeks is the busy program outlined for Johnny Dundee, world's featherweight champion, by his manager, James C. Johnston.

The series, which begins at Frontenac, Kansas, November 13, when Dundee meets Jimmie Benning, will take the champion through the middle west and South Atlantic states and will end in Portland, Oregon, January 27.

There must still be a demand for the broad uproarious type of comedy, or else Tex Rickard wouldn't have Greb and Wilson.

AT THE MAJESTIC TONIGHT

"The Gingham Girl." Sparkling Musical Comedy First Time Here

At the Mejastic tonight is "The Gingham Girl," a new music play by Daniel Kusell, with lyrics by Neville Fleeson and music by Albert von Tilzer, which ran all last season at the new Earl Carroll theatre in New York and was declared by many critical writers to be the best musical offering the big town had seen in many seasons. It is said to be replete with refined humor and boasts a bright and tuneful score, with lyrics filled with romance and meaning.

The story is simple and charming, containing elements calculated to please amusement lovers. The scenes are laid in a little New Hampshire town where the country girl of the title invented a new brand of cookies, and who tried to promote a company with the assistance of one hundred dollars which her sweetheart had given her prior to his departure for the metropolis. But the staid old puritans of her home town and vicinity refused to lend their support, and it looked as if she was doomed to failure. However, her lover's enthusiastic letters instilled the needed courage, and with mind made up to succeed, she descends upon the metropolis for the purpose of satiating the appetites of jaded Gothamites with her dainty morsels. The rebuffs she met with were many, but finally she succeeded in hitting the right spot in the heart of the son of a wealthy banker, who decided to back her in opposition to his father's goods. She still retained her sweetheart as her partner, and makes him go right into the bakershop and earn his partenership with her.

Messrs Schwab and Kusell the original sponsors of the piece, will present "The Gingham Girl" with a new production and an excellent cast numbering several of the original company, together with a smart-stepping chorus and the "Gingham Girl" harmonists who will augment the local orchestra. The costumes worn by the ladies of the company begins with all sorts and styles of gingham frocks to end with the latest, Lucille and Poret models.

Prices 50 c to $2.50. Seat sale now.

RATINGS ARE CHANGED

(By The Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Wholesale changes in rating of Filipino former service men made last year were based on re-examinations of the beneficiaries in the Philippine Islands, the Senate Veterans Committee was told by Dr. L. B Rogers medical doctor of the bureau. Dr. Rogers told of his visit to the island and said it appeared, though it would be difficult, that there had been no collusion between the native doctors and the former service men.

FIRPO RETURNS TO U. S. AGAIN

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 7—Luis Angel Firpo will return to the United States next spring for a series of about 12 fights in various parts of this country and Canada, leading up to a return match with Jack Dempsey for the world's heavyweight title, which probably will take place in New York on Labor Day.

This announcement was made tonight by William McCarney, who with his partner, Hugh Gartland, will conduct Firpo's tour.

Firpo is expected to return to this country in April and start boxing early in May.

MORNING COTTON LETTER.

Thomson & McKinnon

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Yesterday's market felt the influence of reduced crop estimates, fear of small ginnings total today and continued unfavorable weather in the cotton belt Owing to the rapid advance, think market is entitled to a substantial reaction. Believe a great many of the speculative shorts have covered and that bulls have increased their commitments. Advisable at this level to accept profits Believe prices discount a great many bullish features. Think market is heavily long and needs constant bull support.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

(By The Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 8—Ginning figures of 7,554,587 bales as the production of the first of November fully meet bullish expectations in the cotton market today and prices were 3 to 5 points up on the opening An immense volume of realizing sales met this small advance and drove prices 68 to 91 points under the last sales of yesterday. December falling to 32 65 after having traded up to 33 60. New buying was encouraged by these levels and at the end of the first half hour a rally of 50 to 60 points from the lowest occurred.

HOW STANLEY SPRINGS ARE SELF-OILED

As you will note from the illustration at the right each Stanley Spring is equipped with cups stamped in the leaves. These cups are filled with absorbent felt pads, loaded with free flowing oil—preferably light cylinder oil Th eoil is replenished by squirting through two grooves or a hole according to the type of spring. The felt is thicker than necessary to fill the cup It is under constant pressure. As soon as the spring goes into action there begins a gentle kneading process which forces the oil out of the felt onto the friction surface of each spring leaf. The oil is not forced entirely out of the spring, however, because of a continuous capillary attraction which holds it well within the bounds of the spring: thus there is ample lubrictalon and a surplus which does not drip.

One Oiling Is Good for Three Thousand Miles

The Stanley system is built integral with the spring and requires no special installation

Which Is Worth The Most?

In this life we get what we pay for and seldom any more. Some may try to make it appear that they have something to give away but you know better. Jewelry from the 5 and 10c stores may look like the "real stuff" but the test of time makes it costly. Likewise with Meats. Ridiculously cheap products are never worth the price. A good product, plus good service and honest weights is always worth a fair price. Haven't you found it so?

MORNING GRAIN LETTER

Thomson & McKinnon

CHICAGO, Nov. 8. —Sentiment in the wheat trade at the close last night was quite bearish and I see nothing in the news this morning to alter that feeling. The real surprise in the market are that values hold as well as they do in face of preponderance of bearish sentiment and new—a situation almost invariably followed by a sharp upturn coincident with the appearance of a few constructive items Corn futures will undoubtly continue to reflect the exceptionally strong cash position.

Will Broaden Score Of Bureau Inquiry

Action Will Result From Charges That Employes Tried to Hinder Work Of Obtaining Records For Prosecution Of Investigation.

(By The Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.— The scope of the Senate inquiry into the the Veterans' Bureau probably will be broadened as a result of statements made to the investigating committee late yesterday by its counsel that certain employes of the bureau have sought in every way to hinder the work of obtaining records and papers for the prosecution of the inquiry.

R. C. Routsong, in charge of the statistical division, who was assigned by Director Frank T. Hines to assist committee counsel, was named as one of the employes and the committee asked that it be furnished a list of the others Specifically Routsong was charged with holding papers relating to payments to Mathew O'Brien, a San Francisco architect, for unused plans for a hospital at Livermore, California.

One letter showed that O'Brien had presented a claim for only $23,000 in addition to the $64,000 paid him for the original plans and committeemen indicated that this letter would have been of much importance in its investigation into the payment of $33,000 to O'Brien by the accounting office of the budget bureau

The committee was in recess today until next Monday. Routsong and some of other employes may be called next week. The committee also will be prepared then to hear Charles R Forbes, former director of the bureau and some of his witnesses. Forbes was too ill yesterday to atend the hearing and the time of his appearance on the witness stand is indefeinite.

Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, chairman of the committee, has expressed a desire to have the committees' report and the record of the hearing ready for Congress next month. In order for this to be done, the hearings will have to be closed next week or in the week following. Several major maters remain to be inquired into, including camp Kearney, Washington and the operations of the medical and claims divisions of the bureau.

Recommendations for several important changes in the law governing the treatment of the former service men are expected to be one outcome of the investigation. While the committee has been in session only three weeks, John F. O'Ryan, its general counsel, and an army of assistants including lawyers, doctors service men throughout the country have been conducting hundreds of investigations for months. As a result of these inquiries and co-operation between general O'Ryan and director Hines the former has reported to the committee that a number causes for criticism have been removed. Many others remain, however, and it is the opinion of those who have studied the question that only amendments of the basic law governing the bureau will afford a remedy in a number of the cases.

SCHOONER IS SEIZED.

NEW BERN, N. C., Nov. 6—The auxiliary schooner, Pilot, sailing from Nassau with a cargo of thirty barrels and 261 cases of rye whiskey, was seized today at Bogue Inlet, a coast guard station near Swansboro, North Carolina, according to a report reaching here by telephone.

One member of the crew escaped, it was stated, but the others were arrested and placed under guard. Reuort of the Pilot's seizure reaching here have been meagre

MORNING STOC KLETTER

Thomson & McKinnon

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.— I don't know the exact number of stocks that are listed on the stock exchange. My impression is that are about 850 of them and it would be manifestly impossible to move them all at one time The easiest and soundest way is to take hold of a few at a time. Yesterday you witnessed a delightful move in the oil stocks. The next time it may be some other group. There is just one thing that is necessary and that is faith. You must have faith in your position, faith in the market, faith in your country and its inlustries. You can't be a grouch of years and see the awful mess business was in and you pulled through it: and if you could do it successfully then why he doubtful now?

Some women make their way. Others marry and have their way.

(By The Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 8— The New York branch of the Southern Women's Educational Alliance to serve as a liaison between southern [illegible] students and their homes, was formed yesterday. Former Ambasador J. W. Davis, Frank L Polk, Norman H. Davis, George Gordon Battl eand Dr Orie Lathan Hatcher, national president of the organization were among the speakers at the opening meeting.

Mr. Hatcher describing the means of alliance said: "It is the southern center which helps girls to find out the education they need and then helps them get it—the bridge between the southern girl and the right educational opportunity."

A letter from Lady Astor expressing her interest in the movement was received after the meeting She declared the longer she was in public life the more firmly convinced she became that true education of women was the key to better things.

To Hold Annual Meet In Miami

(By The Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 8—A call for the thirty-fifth annual convention of the National Association of Railway and Utilities commissioners, to be held in Miami, Fla., for four days beginning December 4, has been issued here. The association is composed of all railroad and public commissioners of different states and the District of Columbia together with the Interstate Commerce Commission and the commissions of Hawaii, Porto and the Philippines Delaware is the only state not represented

Legislation affecting railroads and the "super power" movement to bring about groupings of states in relation to natural water power resources, so that hydropelectric power may be generated without regard to state boundaries, are expected to be among the chief topics of discussion.

NEW YORK COTTON.

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The cotton market pened barely steady at a decline of 11 to 15 points and the active positions sold 70 to 72 points net lower after threat under heavy realizing and selling for a reaction. The latter was encouraged by the rather easier ruling of Liverpool and reports of warmer weather in the belt but trade interests were active buyers on the declines which also brought in rebuying by recent sellers and prices soon recovered a good part of the loss. January advanced to 33.38 after selling off to 32.95 with the gener[illegible]t about 25 to 30 points net lower [illegible]ng the early trading. The census report showing 7,454,587 bales ginned to November 1 had no apparent influence.

College Girl Is Growing Steadily

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The college girl is growing. Since 1884 she has sprouted an average of one and three tenths inches. She also is putting on weight, her waist measurement is larger and even her lung capacity has improved.

These advancements are based on statistics compiled at Vassar College by Miss Mable Newcomer, economic department, from measurements taken by the department of physical education. The figures show that from girl's increased from 123 8 to 125.8 1884 to 1920 the weight of colleg The waist measurement dropped from 2 to 22 from 1884 to 1896, stood still for ten years, then gradually increased until it reached 25 once more

Improvement in physical condition was attributed to the increased interest in athletics
